NATURE TRIES OP ART, TOO

Like currently fashionable Op artists who achieve a seeming movement on their canvases with repetition of line and color, the peaceful beach of Japan's Kyusho sland shimmers at ebb tide. The specks in the tidal pools between undulations in the sandy shore are people, some carrying buckets on their shoulders.

What Drove Texas Mass Slayer Mad?

Tumor, Parents' Separation, Strain Linked To Action

Whatever it was, could it have been detected?

A brain tumor the size of a pecan, his parents' separation, the strain of his studies, hostility toward his father, a mass killing in Chicago a month before the one he committed Monday—all were suggested as pieces of the puzzle.

But no one really knew.

Despite an ominous reference to thoughts of "shooting people" from the University of Texas tower—a thought Whitman turned to action Monday—a psychiatrist who examined him four months ago said he looked like an all-American boy —and anything but a psycopath.

HEALTH SERVICE

The psychiatrist, Dr. Maurice Dean Heatly, talked to Whitman at the university student health service last March for two hours. The ex-Marine made an appointment to come back again, but broke it.

Heatly said Whitman was "oozing with hostility" and enmity toward his father, who had separated from his mother a month earlier.

He said Whitman accused his father of being brutal, and domineering and also confessed having beaten his own wife on two occasions.

BREAKING POINT

Theories came from several quarters. Whitman's father, C. M. Whitman of Lake Worth, Fla., said his son drove himself to the breaking point in his studies.

Texas Gov. John Connally, arriving in Miami after cutting short a trip to South America, said he thought the recent slaying of eight Chicago student nurses may have triggered the sniper massacre. The governor was to confer with law officials on preventing a recurrence of the mass murder.

TUMOR DOUBT

Medical experts said they doubted a pecan-sized tumor found at the base of Whitman's brain could have prompted the murder spree.

Asked if he did not consider Whitman a potential menace to the community after his statements, Heatly replied:

"I think it's possible anyone in this room could be a threat to the community in the next 24 hours as far as possibilities are concerned."

Romiro Martinez, 29, the policeman who killed Whitman, told a news conference yesterday the killer kept trying to raise his carbine despite six shots from Martinez' service revolver.

So ended 80 minutes of death and terror that started when Whitman, with his wife and mother lying dead in their residences in Austin, dragged a heavy trunk up the last few flights of stairs to the tower, confronted Mrs. Edna Townsley, 47, the elevator operator, and shot her dead.

He came upon Marguerite Lamport, 56, of Austin, taking her sister, Mrs. Mary Frances Gabour, 41, Mrs. Gabour's husband and her sons Mark, 16, and Mike, 19, through the tower. He shot all but Gabour.

Steel Firm Increases Sheet Steel Price

White House Advisers Huddle; Industry Wary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both government and industry officials studied today an increase of $2 to $3 a ton ordered by Inland Steel Co. of Chicago for strip and sheet metal — used extensively in automobiles and large appliances.

For industry, the question was whether to join in the increase to meet claimed rising costs and to raise profit margins. For the government it was what effect the action would have on the economy, already facing inflationary pressures, and whether efforts should be made to stop the increases.

The President's Council of Economic Advisers met shortly after Inland's announcement last night, but chairman Gardner Ackley said only the council is studying the matter.

No more information came from White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers, whose answer to various questions was only:

"All I know is that the Council of Economic Advisers is studying it."

Moyers said President Johnson had made no phone calls to anyone about the steel price situation and no major steel companies have called the White House. He said he didn't know what Johnson's views might be.

The companies themselves were saying nothing except that they were studying the situation.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., told the Senate the steel price increase is "clearly inflationary and I hope it is not peritted to stand."

Sens. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., and Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said they agree generally with Gore's position.

Block, asked if Inland would roll back its price increase if other firms didn't follow suit, said, "We will have to."

Sheet and strip metal account for roughly 30 per cent of the industry's total output. If other firms match Inland's increase, it would amount to the widest industry boost since 1963.

Earlier this year Inland became involved in a major clash between the industry and the Johnson administration prompted by Bethlehem Steel Corp.'s

Full Burden Of Tax To Fall On Unincorporated Residents

County supervisors yesterday relieved residents of Marin's towns and cities from contributing to the county's structural fire fund.

They approved a special tax, the full burden of which will fall on residents of the county's unincorporated areas who are not members of a fire protection assessment district.

Effect of the decision, according to Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell, will be to raise the fire fund tax from eights cents per $100 assessed valuation last year to about 17 cents this year in the unincorporated areas affected. This is expected to provide a fund of $99,134.

At the same time, the general county tax rate will drop, Mitchell said, from $2.2475 to $2.235 per $100 assessed valuation.

Voting for the levy on the unincorporated areas were supervisors Peter H. Behr, Thomas T. Storer and William A. Gnoss. Opposed were Byron W. Leydecker and Ernest N. Kettenhofen.

The decision was a reversal of the stand taken during budget discussions last June, and was made possible by Behr's switching sides on the issue.

In June, the board had dropped the special fund in the fire department budget from $99,134 to $45,000 and made the difference a burden on all county taxpayers.

Behr said yesterday that, at that time, he had felt that there were inequities involved since the levy in unincorporated areas was equally applicable to raw land as well as to improvements.

But, he said, "There is a lot of raw land in the incorporated areas, too." He said he felt that areas receiving protection should pay for it.

Kettenhofen and Leydecker argued that residents in the rural areas, particularly West Marin, don't receive any protection.

Earlier in the hearing, representatives of several cities in the county appeared before the board to recommend budgeting the full $99,000 for structural fire protection and charging it to the unincorporated areas lacking fire assessment districts.

Mill Valley City Councilman Michael Wornum told the board, "Raw land is not exempt from a school tax. Why should it be exempt from a fire tax?"

After the vote, Kettenhofen asked County Administrator Alan Bruce what proportion of the county's population lived in the cities. Bruce said two thirds. Kettenhofen then requested a hearing on why the cities should not contribute one third of their sales tax revenues to the county.

The matter was referred to the city-county services committee for discussion and recommendations to the board at a later date.

Kidnaper Slain In Sacramento; Police Wounded

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A gunman holding a woman and her children hostage wounded two policemen before he was fatally shot today in a gunbattle on the north side of Sacramento.

Police said the woman, identified as a Mrs. Debbs, sent one of her children to the store with a note which asked the clerk to call the police.

They said she had been held hostage by Odell Jackson, 30, during the night.

Police said Jackson came out of a bedroom of the home firing a 38-caliber revolver at Patrolmen Wayne M. Bechtell, 40, and Erwin L. Courtright, 45.

Jackson injured both patrolmen before he was shot down by two other patrolmen who arrived at the scene.

Tax Would Increase Promotion Income

REDWOOD CITY (UPI)— A 4 per cent hotel and motel room tax approved by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors would raise $50,000 annually for tourist and convention promotion a county official said yesterday.

County Manager E. R. Stallings added that cities probably would follow suit and apply a similar tax, which now only applies to unincorporated areas. The supervisors approved the tax yesterday.

U.S. Cavalry Launches Campaign In Plains

SAIGON (UPI) —The U.S. Army's 1st Air Cavalry Division today attacked at least three North Vietnamese regiments in the Ia Drang Valley of the rain-sodden Central Highlands. G-52 strategic bombers also hit the area, the scene of the war's greatest battle last November.

The thousands of cavalrymen were flown in by helicopter to reinforce U.S. 25th Army Division troops who had fought at least nine major clashes in the Ia Drang Valley and Chu Pong Mountain region in the past 24 hours to mark the start of a major new U.S. offensive.

A military spokesman announced that U.S. Navy pilots yesterday bombed oil installations on the outskirts of Haiphong for the third time, touching off great clouds of black smoke and a rumbling series of secondary explosions two miles from the heart of the port city. Fliers reported the most intense antiaircraft fire of the war.

The announcement was an indirect denial of charges by Hanoi radio that the American planes had bombed residential areas and factories indiscriminately. The Americans said their bombs were on target. Hanoi also claimed six planes were shot down.

B-52 bombers also struck near the demilitarized zone (DMZ) between North and South Viet Nam in support of Operation Hastings which came to an official end today with an estimated toll of 1,814 Communist dead, 880 by actual body count, the rest listed as "probable kills."

U.S. Air Force pilots had their most active month of the war over North Viet Nam in July, the Air Force reported today.

In its monthly summary, the Air Force said its pilots flew 1,762 strike missions in July against North Vietnamese targets despite intense antiaircraft fire and increased encounters with Communist MIG jets.

The North Vietnamese fired a record 139 surface-to-air missiles (SAMS) at U.S. warplanes the Air Force. It did not say whether any of the missiles downed American planes. The SAMs have generally proved unsuccessful.

Navy Can't Support Spy Story

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy said today investigative files failed to substantiate a published report that aviatrix Amelia Earhart was on a U.S. spy mission when she vanished in 1937.

The official statement was a belated response to a story published late last month by the Napa, Calif., Register.

The newspaper said a private six-year investigation revealed that Miss Earhart and her navigator, Fred Noonan, fell captives of the Japanese after their plane was forced down in the Marshall Islands while the pair was seeking information and photographs of Japanese - held islands in the Pacific.

Senate Balks At Compulsion For Airlines

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate refused today to order compulsory arbitration if the airline strike is not settled by bargaining during a proposed six-month back-to-work period.

It was the first Senate vote on legislation dealing with the 27-day walkout, and it left unanswered the major question: whether and how Congress is going to force an end to the walkout.

The vote knocked down an amendment proposed by Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, who wanted a five-man board to hand down a final, binding contract settlement if the AFL-CIO Machinists Union and five major airlines do not negotiate one.

Lausche's arbitration plan would have taken effect after expiration of the 180-day strike halt proposed to the Senate in two versions.

One would have Congress issue the strike stopping order; the other would leave that to President Johnson.

While the Senate argued, then rejected the Lausche plan, its leaders and lawyers worked behind the scenes to draft compromise legislation which would

Temporary Food Price Freeze Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. Leonard Farbestein, D-N. Y. today proposed a temporary freeze on food prices. He said they are climbing at a disturbing rate in big cities.

Farbstein told the House he made the suggestion in a letter to Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman and that unless he is persuaded otherwise he will introduce next week legislation to impose a 90-day freeze on prices of bread and other food staples.

Non-Farm Total Climbs To Record

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—California's non-farm payrolls climbed to a record 6,085,000, beating the previous peak in May by 69,800 jobs.

The gain over June last year was 293,700, of 5.1 per cent, the state Division of Labor Statistics reported today.

New records were set also in employment of women and in average hourly earnings of factory workers.

Russians Willing To Halt West Coast Salmon Fishing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet negotiators have agreed to recommend that Russian fishermen stay at least 12 miles off the Washington - Oregon coast and not fish for salmon, the State Department announced today.

Although the United States claims territorial water rights only three miles from shore, Russia and many other countries claim more and efforts have been made to have Congress increase the U.S. claim to 12 miles or more.

The agreement was reached in negotiations in Moscow last week. The recommendation is subject to agreement between government representatives.

The United States has sought the talks because of concern over potential damage to fishing resources from Soviet fishing off U. S. shores, particularly along the West Coast.

The State Department announcement also echoed an earlier Interior Department disclosure that Soviet officials may impose fishing limits on their nationals off both U. S. coasts if this is proved necessary to protect various species.

Among other things, the agreement would call for exchange of scientists, fishery management experts and industry representatives between American and Russian fishing and research ships.

Formosa, South Korea Show U.S. Aid Can Help Asia

By EUGENE LEVIN

TAIPEI, Formosa, (AP) — In terms of economic development Formosa and South Korea have emerged from the ruins of war to become glamour girls in Asia.

Can South Viet Nam, with U.S. aid, match them when peace comes?

Not so long ago Formosa and South Korea were as desperate as South Viet Nam, with their survival seemingly dependent on endless American aid.

Formosa, stronghold of Nationalist China, is moving rapidly ahead now without U.S. aid. South Korea, increasingly confident, is receiving loans instead of outright grants.

Both countries started on the road to economic progress after wars against communism. Thus they stand as examples for Viet Nam.

Both give hope to the United States, which has been pouring up to half a billion dollars a year in economic aid into South Viet Nam

Chinese, Korean and American experts say South Viet Nam ultimately can be self-sustaining but they caution that American aid must be used carefully and with an awareness of shortcomings that developed elsewhere. The Chinese and Koreans are helping the Americans in Viet Nam by sending technicians there to help teach techniques that Americans taught them.

However, the Chinese and Koreans feel that the U.S. aid program in Viet Nam cannot really get under way until the war ends.

"Based on our experience on the mainland, you cannot win two wars at once," says S. Y. Dao, economist who heads Nationalist China's Council for International Economic Cooperation and Development. "You must win the military war before you can win the social war."

Dao points to the Chinese land reform program which barely got under way on the mainland before the Communist takeover there. The reform was carried out in Formosa, giving more than 80 per cent of the island's farmers the ownership of the land they tilled.

It was also the basis of a land reform program tried in South Viet Nam by the old Diem regime. Politics in Saigon and Red terrorism in the countryside blocked the effort.

Americans in Formosa feel the reform here was successful because it was carried out by a strong government under conditions of peace and order.

"The people first learned to feed and clothe themselves," an American explained. "Other developments followed naturally."

The concept was to provide employment for the farmers and thereby generate income. The result was the almost automatic development of industry.

"We avoided show and prestige projects," one American said.

In both South Korea and Formosa there has been waste, and the value of American restraint is generally recognized in holding aid requests down. If the decisions were Taipei's alone, some Americans feel, Nationalist China might still be obtaining U.S. aid.

Another lesson for Viet Nam, according to the Chinese and Koreans, is political stability. Experts in Taipei credit the Chiang Kai-shek regime for this.

Officials in Seoul acknowledge that much American aid was dissipated after the Korean war because of political unrest. The stability there the past two years, under President Chung Hee Park, looks like a key to South Korea's upswing.

Diplomats and economists in Seoul and Taipei acknowledge that their countries may have had some advantages in comparison with South Viet Nam.

South Korea had a high literacy rate with a people known for their capacity to learn. Formosa, although shattered by World War II and civil war, had basic things left over from its Japanese occupation such as power, railroads and some industry.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Exiled Viet General Will Run

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP) — Lt. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, ousted commander of South Viet Nam's 1st Corps area who is in the second political exile of his career, says he'll be a candidate for premier when elections are held.

Thi

Thi, a Buddhist, would not venture a guess as to his strength at the polls. But he did point out here yesterday in an interview that 80 per cent of his country is Buddhist. The Buddhists seized on Thi's ouster four months ago as the pretext for their stormy but unsuccessful revolt against Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

Thi would not say what chances he believes Ky would have in free elections.

Thi, who departed from South Viet Nam with the permission of Ky's regime, was in Lynchburg to visit two of his children, Nguyen Chanh Loc, 11, and Nguyen Chanh Minh, 10, who attend school there.

The deposed general, who plans to undergo treatment of a sinus condition at an undisclosed location, said he will be in Washington three months and then will return to South Viet Nam.

Nugent and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerard P. Nugent of Waukegan, Ill., were enjoying the warm good wishes of the top-level U.S. and Israeli officials, plus members of Congress, union leaders, writers, educators and artists gathered to honor Shazar.

Nicaraguan President Dies Of Heart Attack

Schick had been president of this Central American country since May 1, 1963.

Orlando Montegegro, president of the national Congress, assumed the presidency temporarily. An extraordinary session of Congress will be called to elect a successor.

The National Congress was expected to name a successor to Schick, whose four-year term was scheduled to end next April 30.

Nicaragua has a vice president, Lorenzo Guerrero, a medical doctor, but under the constitution he does not automatically step into the presidency.

However he likely will be named by Congress to fill out Schick's term.

State Delays Telephone Deposit Try

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pacific Telephone Co. has lost its most recent bid to require a $25 deposit from new subscribers who have not established credit.

The State Public Utilities Commission rejected the proposal yesterday because the phone company merely informed the PUC of its intent in an advisory letter. The commission said it would have to have a formal request for permission to require deposits and then a hearing would be granted.

At one time the phone company required such deposits, but the PUC ordered the practice stopped. The company said that since then its uncollectable bills have jumped to $200,000 a month.

Mother Slays Four, Herself In South Bay

MILPITAS (AP)—A neighbor, investigating why a child did not appear for Bible class, found the bodies of an entire family of five yesterday. All had been killed with a single rifle.

Police Chief Jim Murray called it a murder-suicide tragedy. Mrs. Jeanette Euart, 32, he said, shot her husband, Kent, 45, and their three children—Denise, 8; Eric, 7; and Randy, 5. The woman had been a mental patient, the chief added.

SAW BODY

Daniel Dwelle, who found the bodies 11 hours after the shooting, saw Mrs. Euart's body through a glass door at the rear of the Euart home. The shooting had taken place at 6 a.m. yesterday, police estimated.

The family was missed when Mrs. Dwelle went to pick up one Euart child for a morning Bible class. When Dwelle returned home from work, his wife told him of her unanswered knock at the door and he investigated.

Police found Euart and the children in bed, still clad in night clothes. Each had been shot through the head. Mrs. Euart had taken her own life and was lying in the rumpus room, officers said.

MENTAL PATIENT

Chief Murray said neighbors and the Euarts' minister told him Mrs. Euart had been a voluntary patient at Agnew State Hospital, a mental institution.

Police said the family was shot with a 30-caliber lever action rifle, apparently while they were still sleeping. No note was found.

Euart had been employed as a swing shift machinist by the Hewlett-Packard Co., in nearby Palo Alto.

Soapy Beats Detroit Mayor; Idaho's Smylie Is Defeated

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Former Governor G. Mennen Williams, a strong supporter of President Johnson's Viet Nam policies, stormed to a big victory yesterday over Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh for Michigan's Democratic U.S. senatorial nomination.

In other top primaries, State Sen. Don Samuelson upset Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie in his bid for the Republican gubernatorial renomination and Sen. James B. Pearson and Gov. William H. Avery won renomination in the Kansas Republican primary.

SIX TERMS

Williams, 55, who served six terms as Michigan's governor, was endorsed by most of the state's powerful union leaders. His November opponent will be Sen. Robert Griffin, who was unopposed in the Republican primary.

Idaho's Samuelson, who piled up steady pluralities in most of the state's 44 counties, was backed by the party's more conservative elements in his race against Smylie.

Although Smylie campaigned for Goldwater in 1964, he called for reorganization of the party after the overwhelming Goldwater defeat and is considered a moderate. The governor has been in office since 1954.

NO OPPOSITION

Democratic Sen. Len B. Jordan had no opposition in the Idaho primary and will face former congressman Ralph Harding in the November election.

Pearson, 46, who will now make his first run for a full Senate term, also was endorsed by the party's conservative leaders in his Kansas race against Ellsworth, 40, who won election to the House six years ago.

While in Congress, Ellsworth was identified with the moderate wing of the Republican party. He trailed Pearson closely in early returns but soon fell about 20,000 votes behind.

Pearson will face former congressman J. Floyd Breeding, who won an easy victory in the Kansas Democratic senatorial primary.

Gov. Avery, who declared his margin of victory exceeded his highest hopes, will face Robert Docking, Arkansas City banker, in the November Kansas gubernatorial election. Avery ran far in front of Dell Crozier of Wichita.

In Missouri, three incumbent congressmen won renomination in contests: Democrats Richard H. Ichord of the 8th District and Paul C. Jones of the 10th District and Republican Durward G. Hall of the 7th District.

Robert L. Sharp won the nomination in the 1st District Republican primary race and will face veteran Democratic incumbent Rep. Frank Karsten, who had no primary opposition.

Alto Safe Crackers Fail, Settle For Trade Stamps

A string of Alto-Strawberry area break-ins early today, including three service stations, netted burglars a paltry amount of trade stamps and about six dozen sandwiches, sheriff's officers reported today.

Deputies said they saw a partially raised garage door at Standard Oil Co.'s station at 580 Redwood Highway, Alto, about 1 a.m. Investigation revealed burglars had broken a glass pane of the door, then entered to loot the office.

An estimated 15,000 of the stamps were taken from the ransacked office, officers added, but an attempt to pound open a floor safe with hammer and tire tool was unsuccessful. The tools were found discarded nearby.

Bay's Union 76 service station, 250 Tiburon Boulevard, was entered by kicking in a front door, according to deputies who discovered the break-in at 1:30 a.m. They said intruders also had attempted to break open a floor safe with tools taken from the station's work bench.

Deputies said the frustrated burglars also tried unsuccessfully to remove cash boxes located outside near gas pumps. No money had been left in the boxes, according to station owner William H. Bay.

Only known loot was two rolls of trade stamps.

Discovered about the same time by deputies was break-in of Strawberry Texaco service station, 570 Redwood Highway. Deputies said they found a side garage window smashed for entry. The burglars then forced an inner door, gaining access to the station's office.

Loot was undetermined, but officers said one of four cash register drawers was taken, along with several trade stamps.

The sandwiches, wrapped for sale, were taken in a break-in of Sausalito Boat and Tackle Shop, Waldo Point. Entry was via an open restroom window, then ripping a hole in wall leading into the main store.

Other burglaries reported today included the home of Nancy J. Riding, 26 Corte Madera, Greenbrae. She told officers entry was through an unlocked kitchen door. A small quantity of liquor and $20 cash were taken.

Sandra L. Ogg, 330 Madrone Park Circle, Homestead Valley, reported loss of a rare $1,000 cello musical instrument and case from her home. Also missing, she said, were a $400 camera, a transistor radio, and three teakwood elephant carvings.

Marin City Child Care Center was entered by breaking a skylight. A small quantity of food was consumed, but nothing else was believed taken.

Point Reyes National Seashore reported a storage building was entered by cutting a padlock. Taken were a pair of binoculars and a 14-foot surfboard used for rescue work, according to Robert D. Barbe, ranger.

The Eat and Run restaurant, at 830 College Avenue, Kentfield, was entered by forcing a rear office door. Taken were an old electric cash register and a strong box. Neither contained money, according to officers, and both items were found discarded nearby.

Deputies said a vehicle apparently was used to force the door, since tire marks were found at the door site.

Dr. Robert Boyer, 33, a visiting mathematics professor, was taking his last walk around the campus before leaving for an assignment at Liverpool, England. He was killed.

Thomas Ashton, 22, of Redlands, Calif., a Peace Corps trainee at the campus, died. Thomas Karr, 24, a Spanish language senior student, was killed.

Claudia Rutt, 18, of Austin, was walking with her boy friend, Paul Sonntag, 19, when she fell mortally wounded. Sonntag stooped to help her and was shot to death.

Roy Dell Schmidt, 29, an electrician on a routine call at a nearby residence, was killed. Thomas Frederick Eckman, 18, a freshman, walked out of an anthropology class into a fatal bullet.

Harry Walchuk, 38, a graduate student in government and the father of six children, fell mortally wounded inside a news stand on the edge of the campus.

Mrs. Claire Wilson, eight months pregnant, was hit in the back. The bullet shattered the skull of her unborn child.

Policeman Billy Speed, 22, was one of the army of law officers who surrounded the tower. Crouching near the building, he was hit. He crumpled to his knees, tried to rise, then fell back dead.

In Washington, facing a maze of roadblocks, sponsors moved cautiously today in an effort to steer gun control legislation toward Senate action in the aftermath of the Texas massacre that left 16 dead and 31 wounded.

Truman Better, Hospital Reports

KANSAS CITY, Mo., (UPI)—Former President Harry S. Truman's condition was so improved today that authorities discontinued issuance of regular medical bulletins.

Wayne Conery, assistant director of research hospital, said the former President's condition "is so satisfactory that there is no longer anything newsworthy to report from day to day." He said the length of Truman's hospital stay remains undecided while he undergoes tests in a regular checkup.

Truman voted by absentee ballot yesterday in the Jackson County Democratic primary election and sat up in a chair to read a newspaper.

STEEL

Inland went along with the boost a few days later but after U.S. Steel — under heavy administration pressure — announced only a $2.74 increase, both Inland and Bethlehem backed down. The compromise, described by Johnson as within his wage-price guidelines, set off a stock market surge.

Inland's boost comes amid lagging profits throughout the industry. Of the five major steel producers, only Bethlehem reported increased profits for the first six months of 1966.

Earnings at U.S. Steel dropped from $154.8 million to $125.5 million.

Water Board To Supply Airport

An agreement to furnish water and water mains to the Marin County Airport at Novato was approved last night by the North Marin County Water District board, meeting in its new offices at 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato.

The agreement calls for installing just over half a mile of 12 and eight-inch mains to the airport at a cost of $18,970. The water district will furnish a temporary water supply from a well owned by the Wright family, airport operators, according to Jerome B. Gilbert, district manager.

The board agreed to contribute staff time to conclude a report started by Sonoma County on furnishing Russian River Water to Marin County. This study is scheduled for completion by the end of this year, Gilbert said.

1. Rejected three bids for a pump for the Lynwood pumping station as none met specifications. District engineers will study the specifications to see if negotiations are possible with one of the bidders.

2. Approved an agreement with Benjamin P. Bonelli for water rights on Arroyo Sausal Creek on his Soole Joule ranch near Marshall.

3. Accepted quit claim deeds from Ernest H. and Verna Hansen for water main extensions off Indian Valley Road.

Mother Slashes Children

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A woman who recently underwent psychiatric care slashed the throats of her two children and cut her own wrists with a razor blade today.

Patrolman Ernest Hopper said he found Mrs. Madga Pesko, 30, running down a sidewalk near her potrero district home "covered from head to foot with blood."

Gordon said Thomas Pesko told him his wife had undergone psychiatric care,

Pesko was cut on his hands as he tried to stop her as she attacked the children.

He said he was trying to telephone police when his wife turned on the boys with a razor blade. She had stuffed a pillow in the heater exhaust, filling the home with fumes, Pesko said.

The boys were taken to Mission Emergency Hospital where a spokesman said both were expected to survive.

Air Curtain Aids Space Assembly

By Science Service

WASHINGTON—An invisible curtain of air designed to keep spacecraft parts dust-free during assembly is now helping the Food and Drug Administration test antibiotics.

The moving air actually insulates a work bench from the person using it.

When new antibiotics are being evaluated, microorganisms riding on the tiniest of dust particles can ruin test results. The human testers, therefore, must handle samples by reaching through an air curtain that blows out dust particles as small as .0000117 of an inch.

The air comes down from a filtering hood, through thousands of tiny holes in the work surface, around to the filter, and down again.

The FDA tests approximately 300,000 containers of injectable antibiotics every year, so the repeat tests necessitated by stray dust are a major headache. The air-curtained work bench will hopefully reduce the number of repeats.

Data Requested On Gun Orders

Marin County Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen asked for information yesterday on the orders requiring an off-duty sheriff's deputy to carry a gun tucked in his belt instead of a holster.

He made the request at a board meeting following the report that deputy William Keaton was shot in the hip early Sunday in Tiburon while off duty.

The officer was allegedly shot by his gun by a person who pulled it from his belt.

Suspected Addict To Be Moved

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday ordered Robert James Davis, 21, to an undetermined period at California Rehabilitation Center at Corona as a possible narcotics addict.

The transfer suspends further proceedings in the court on Davis' earlier guilty plea to the May 1 burglary of Dan's Groceries and Liquor at 254 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley.

Turkey Call Gets Results

WILLOW SPRINGS, Mo. (AP) —Bob White had no more than sounded his turkey call when a big tom headed toward him over the hill about 100 feet away, coming lickety split.

White said the bird's onrush caught him unprepared. The wild gobbler thundered by so fast and so close the hunter's turkey call went one way and his gun the other.

"I was five minutes finding my turkey call in the brush," White said. "That doggone tom must've heard some hen, and he was going to beat all the other birds there."

Transferred

Twelve of the 60 men on San Quentin's Death Row were transferred today to the new 32-cell condemned unit. Before their transfer, all 60 cells on old Death Row were filled.

Lagunitas Board Moves On Bond Vote

The Lagunitas School District board of trustees last night started formal action for a Nov. 6 election in which voters would be asked to approve a $240,000 bond issue and $300,000 state loan.

The board voted unanimously to ask the county counsel to begin proceedings for the election. Two similar tries to get voter approval for funds to build a new school in February and June, failed.

The board discussed architectural plans for the new school building, which would be built in Forest Knolls.

The board approved a final budget of $336,190, anticipating a drop of about 50 cents from last year's tax rate of $3.56 per $100 assessed valuation. Assessed valuation in the district is up 58.4 per cent.

share the responsibility — and labor's political blame — for any strike-stopping order.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., advised the Senate that the backstage huddles were approaching understanding on terms of a bill.

He said it might involve a 60-day back-to-work order from congress, with President Johnson to act if the command must be extended.

Morse said it is essential that the legislation provide machinery to block the strike for up to six months.

Morse said he would support any compromise plan under which Congress takes the first back-to-work step.

Any compromise legislation presumably would send the 35,000 strikers back to their jobs at the increased pay rates previously agreed upon by the machinists union and the air lines.

Marin To Dump Larkspur Arks

Anyone for an ark before the rainy season? Marin County has four to spare.

The board of supervisors, meeting yesterday as the county flood control and water conservation district, agreed to dispose of four arks the county purchased at Larkspur in connection with the Corte Madera Flood Control Project. Under the terms of the State Department of Water Resources, the county has now to get rid of them.

Sausalito Approves Television Franchise

Sausalito city councilmen voted 3-2 last night to grant Sausalito Community TV System a new franchise covering most of the city.

One of the conditions of the franchise is that the firm move its antenna tower on Currey Lane within five years.

Councilman Jan Paul Dyk, one of those who dissented, said he wanted to be assured that the firm's antenna is capable of performing within the standards of the city's new community antenna television ordinance. Mayor Mel Wax said the franchise sets the standard. If the firm doesn't comply, he asserted, the franchise will be withdrawn.

Councilman Earl F. Dunphy, the other dissenter, said he was not opposed to granting the franchise, but voted against it "at this time" because the city has not yet received a report from an impartial expert on the antenna's capabilities.

The firm agreed to a council request last month that a study of the antenna be made at company expense, but the study has not yet been made.

The council also adopted an ordinance repealing the television antenna franchise granted Sausalito Communications Service, which has abandoned its plan to go into the business.

Liu obtained a building permit May 16 for remodeling work. It was underway when the planning commission ruled July 6 that the parlor would not be allowed in the central commercial district without a use permit.

Attorney William R. Bremer, representing Liu, said Liu spent funds and made commitments after being granted the building permit and has since stopped alterations because of the planning commission ruling.

Bremer said the section of the zoning ordinance covering such activities is "ambiguous," and that a billiard parlor should be a permitted use.

Liu asked why it was four months after he got his permit that the matter of the permit arose. Mayor Mel Wax said a permit issued in violation of the ordinance is invalid.

The Sausalito City Council Also:

1. Awarded Peter Sartario Inc. of Colma, lowest of six bidders, a contract to build three buildings at the city corporation yard at Nevada and Tomales streets, at a cost of $43,374, plus alternates in construction.

2. Approved a request by the Sausalito Art Assn. to exhibit architect Lawrence Halprin's proposed plan for the Sausalito waterfront, between Richardson and Princess streets, at the 1966 Sausalito Arts Festival.

3. Referred to City Atty. Leland H. Jordan a request from the recreation commission for an option on the legality of developing park and recreation facilities on a city street, on land or under water.

4. Authorized Norman Wohlschlaeger, public works director, to call for bids for final development of Langendorf Park, estimated to cost $6,000.

5. Postponed setting the tax rate for fiscal 1967 until clarification of the section covering library funds.

6. Authorized interior painting of police headquarters and authorized Acting City Mgr. Charles E. Masten to notify the building owner that the building code requires hot water.

7. Passed a resolution of intention to abandon portions of Nevada, Wateree and Olema streets within the boundaries of the Bayside School site and set Sept. 6 for a hearing. These are streets on paper only.

8. Authorized the locking of the council chambers after 5 p.m. after a report that people have had to be chased out and that the sign over the ladies room was stolen.

9. Adjourned until 8 p.m. today for a closed session to review applications for city manager. Next open meeting will be Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Heat Problem

San Anselmo library board Monday night agreed to look into ways of alleviating heat on the main floor of the library during hot spells, without purchasing the $7,000 air conditioning system ruled out of this year's budget by city administrator Douglas J. Flautt. They reached no conclusion, according to board member Leo Dwyer.

City Passes Anti-Bias Job Clause

Sausalito city councilmen last night approved a fair employment clause for city contracts which appeared to have teeth in it.

If the contractor or the unions involved do not comply, the council can cancel the project and terminate the contract.

The clause states that the contractor shall not discriminate and shall meet with representatives of unions involved and request them to comply before he starts the job.

City Atty. Leland H. Jordan said the clause gives the council a chance to determine before the work starts if the contractor and the unions intend to comply with fair employment practices.

"If it does not appear that such compliance can be obtained, the council will have the right to cancel the project and not authorize commencement of work," he said.

Jordan was not present, but his written recommendation was submitted to the council.

Those Big Drydocks To Be Around For Repairs Year To 18 Months

Sausalito is slated to have those huge drydocks under repair along its waterfront for the next year to 18 months.

Delmar Wise, head of Diesel Engineering and Maintenance Co., told the Sausalito City Council last night that the drydocks will undergo repair at the company pier at 1702 Bridgeway.

The third drydock now sitting in Richardson Bay mud will be taken in to the pier in about three weeks, he said. There is a delay because a crane "wiped out 40 pilings at the dock" Wise explained. A fourth is expected soon.

The drydocks, 52 feet high and weighing 4,000 tons each, all will be in the company yard at the same time, he said. "When they are at the pier only 15 feet will be showing," said Wise.

Wise said he had planned to have five drydocks in for repairs "but one outfit pulled out because of the publicity."

Wise said that he has approval from the Coast Guard and the Army Corps of Engineers for temporary mooring of the third drydock in the bay. The only problem, he explained, is that people keep stealing the warning lights. "I've lost 16 warning lights at $30 apiece," he said.

"Probably people swimming over to Belvedere," quipped Mayor Mel Wax.

The council agreed that the vestigate the repair operation to determine if it complies with the zoning ordinance.

Parking Ticket Box, Check Sent To Police

NEW YORK (AP)—Frazer Dougherty sent the Police Department a cake box full of parking tickets yesterday and a check to pay them off. It was written for $2,100.

Dougherty's 156 tickets are part of a flood that has brought the city $5 million during a two week amnesty period. From now on a computer will ferret out those who dodge parking tickets.

Sausalito Gets 40 To 50 Applicants For Manager

There have been "40 or 50" applicants for the job of Sausalito city manager, Mayor Mel Wax reported at a city council session last night.

The Sausalito City Council will meet in closed session tonight to review the applications, Wax said. "We hope in the next month to make a choice."

Fire Chief Charles E. Masten has been acting city manager since the resignation of Charles A. Brown June 22.

Wax said the list of applicants included some with outstanding qualifications.

The council also received a letter from the Sausalito Citizens Council urging the council to give careful consideration to personality and public relations qualifications of applicants.

The ability and inclination to get along with the citizenry and deal with their problems "on a practical rather than a theoretical basis is, we feel, an essential quality for a city manager to have in Sausalito," the council said.

"Sausalito isn't just a tract-house town which sits back and lets the paid staff run the town impersonally 'by the book' behind hard-to-reach telephones and hard-to-open doors," the council declared.

Point Reyes Cash Allocation Urged

The Point Reyes National Seashore project "is somewhat like the Viet Nam war," Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, said last week in testimony on bills to increase funds to buy more land for the park. "Much has happened in the past, but it is the situation as we face it now that deserves and requires our attention."

Speaking before the Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs on bills which he and Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., introduced, Clausen urged that $30.5 million be added to the $14 million authorized by Congress in 1962 to acquire land for the park.

LAND HISTORY

To date, only about 16,000 of the 53,850 acres have been bought. When first considered in 1962, plans for the park anticipated purchase of all 53,850 acres, at an estimated cost of $20 million, but this was cut to $14 million to buy 27,850 acres, with 26,000 acres of ranch and dairy land to be protected from development by scenic easements.

The bills by Clausen and Kuchel are intended to allow purchase of the approximately 11,850 acres of the 27,850 still in private ownership.

The department of the Interior, however, has asked that $43.5 million be added to the original $14 million to allow purchase of all remaining acreage before its value becomes even more inflated.

NEXT HEARINGS

Next hearings on the bills will be before the House Interior Committee, which is expected to end its schedule early in September. Clausen said he has asked the committee's chairman, Rep. Wayne N. Aspinall, D-Colo., to set the bills for hearing, but several hundred bills have jammed the committee calendar.

Jerry Reynolds, Clausen's administrative assistant, told the Independent-Journal "there is some hope of getting on the committee calendar," but he was not optimistic.

Noting the urgency of prompt purchase of additional land for the park, Clausen said a recent decision on condemnation proceedings on a parcel at Bolema Palisades at the south end of the park resulted in a purchase price of $1,350,000. The decision requires the federal government to pay the landowner $221 interest for each day until full payment is made, he added.

Point Reyes land values have risen so fast, Reynolds said, that even the request for $30.5 million, based on estimates of land value made several months ago, may buy less park land than intended by the bills.

Locket May Help Identify Skeleton

SAN MATEO (AP) — A gold locket about the size and shape of a postage stamp may help identify a female skeleton found near the Crystal Springs Golf Course.

San Mateo County Coroner Paul Jensen said yesterday the locket, which has an embossed cherry on its cover, contained faded paper which may have been a photograph.

He said he described the locket to the mother of Marcheta Gynther, 23, a Stanford University graduate student who disappeared June 11, 1950. The woman couldn't identify it.

He said he is planning to contact Mrs. Gynther's former husband, Malcolm, a professor of psychology at Washington University in St. Louis, to determine if he remembers the locket.

Dinner To Honor College President

A dinner to honor Dr. Stephen E. Epler, whose resignation as president of College of Marin takes effect Aug. 15, will be held Aug. 16 at Dominic's Restaurant in San Rafael.

Sponsored by the board of trustees of the college district, the no-host dinner starts at 6:30 p.m.

Dr. Epler, president of the college for six years, is leaving to take the presidency of the new Fremont-Newark Junior College District in Alameda County.

Women's Group To Demonstrate

The Marin County branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom is organizing a group of people to drive to Port Chicago at Concord Sunday, then march to the Navy dock gates, where munitions for Viet Nam are stored.

The group will stand at the gate "in protest and mourning," reported Mrs. Marie Ingerman of Corte Madera, a member of the league.

Demonstrators will meet at 12:30 p.m. near Penney's Store at the Corte Madera Shopping Center and will leave at 1 p.m. Anyone wishing to join may call Mrs. Julie Mathews of 17 Arroyo Avenue, San Anselmo, said Mrs. Ingerman.

Board Earmarks Cash For Youth Job Efforts

The Marin board of supervisors yesterday reached into the county's contingency reserve fund for $18,250 to help finance three work programs for young people from low-income families.

The unanimous action was taken despite a warning from County Administrator Alan Bruce that it was unadvisable to dip this deeply into the county's uncommitted reserves of approximately $65,900.

He suggested that only one, or possibly two, of the three programs presented by Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell be approved.

Mitchell — in presenting the program, prepared by his project coordinator, James McKenna — pointed out that it was "early in the fiscal year" for such action, but said that "if the board proceeds cautiously" in the year ahead it might endorse the program in whole or in part.

Although a major portion of the project will not get under way till June of 1967, Mitchell said, the money has to be budgeted now to qualify for $129,220 in federal funds.

The three projects in order of priorities assigned by Mitchell are:

1. The summer program, starting next summer, which would provide work for 66 persons between the ages of 16 and 21 at $1.30 an hour; the county to pay $7,440, the federal government $40,240.

2. The in-school program providing 15 hours a week of work for 41 enrollees after school hours and on Saturdays; the county's share, $6,910; the federal share, $43,660.

3. The out-of-school program designed to provide 24 school drop-outs with 32 hours of work a week on condition they attend remedial classes and strive to complete their high school education. The county's share would be $3,900, the federal share, $45,320.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr asked Bruce what effect this would have on the county reserve fund.

Bruce said, "I cannot be overly optimistic about the state of the reserves at this time." He said that in addition to the "usual unknowns," the effect of Medicare on the county has not been determined.

Still to come, said Bruce, is "the sheriff's report on the jail situation, which will have no small price tag." He was referring to the cost of the recent decision to board Marin prisoners in Sonoma County Jail to relieve overcrowding in this county's jail.

Behr also wanted to know what progress was being made under current programs offering work to young people, particularly from Marin City, at $1.30 an hour. Project coordinator McKenna said this was going very well despite past publicity given reluctance of some to accept work at these rates.

Supervisors approved all three programs.

Two Men Fined $247 For Drunken Driving

David William Smith, 38, San Francisco, and Vernon Leon Tam, 47, of San Pablo, Contra Costa County, were each fined $247 and placed on six months' probation periods in Marin Municipal Court yesterday for drunken driving.

Smith was arrested July 10 by California Highway Patrol on the Golden Gate Bridge. Tam was arrested by the patrol Saturday on Highway 101.

Behr Objects To Point Reyes Rezoning Idea

Marin County Supervisor Peter H. Behr yesterday roundly condemned a proposal by the National Park Service that land within the Point Reyes National Seashore be zoned by government ownership.

He called for full disclosure of the facts and supervisors agreed to hold a public hearing Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. at Civic Center.

The new zoning idea claimed to protect public park holdings was suggested by George B. Hartzog, director of the park service, in Senate interior subcommittee hearings last Wednesday on the seashore project.

NEW LAW ASKED

Hartzog asked Congress for legislation for authority to either negotiate with owners of the land for easements which limit development to uses approved by the government or buy land and sell it back to private interests with restrictive covenants.

The director had told the subcommittee his idea grew out of a fear owners of ranch land might build projects not consistent with the seashore concept.

Behr said the federal government was trying to "euchre" property owners out of their land and take it off the tax rolls to provide commercial revenue for the service.

CITES MILLER

He considered it illustrated the extent towards commercialism of the trustees of the park service. "And it is directly contrary to everything stood for by the late Clem Miller," he added.

Congressman Miller, who was killed in an air crash in 1962, worked hard toward the establishment of the national seashore during his term as representative of the First District.

Yesterday, Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, who represents West Marin, pointed out he had in no way endorsed the park service's zoning plan and also called for a public hearing.

Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

1. Approved an ordinance controlling construction of piers, decks, and other facilities along Gallinas Creek dredging project. The ordinance was first presented to the board July 14.
2. Accepted a development plan for 27 town houses in Marin City and adopted amendments to the Marin City master plan.
3. Approved 10 staff members of the assessor's department attending an assessment standards division central school at Davis at a cost of $620.
4. Set a public hearing on the rezoning of a section of Muir Woods Park for Aug. 16.

Court Backs Inheritance By Russians

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The State Supreme Court says that the Soviet Union's citizens can legally inherit property willed them by Californians.

The court issued the ruling yesterday in unanimous opinions disposing of cases in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Justice Mathew O. Tobriner wrote an opinion that since Soviet law and custom permits United State citizens to inherit property in that country on the same parity as Russians, Californian should reciprocate.

The Los Angeles cases involved the estate of John Larkin, who died in April, 1960, leaving $43,901 to Russian heirs, and the estate of Leise Marie Terry, who died in July, 1960, leaving $9,545 to Russian heirs.

Corte Madera Firm Awarded Street Contract

A contract for improvements to Harvard Avenue and Princeton Avenue in Marin City was awarded by county supervisors yesterday in time for work to be completed before the winter.

The contract went to Maggiora and Ghilotti of Corte Madera, who submitted a low bid of $23,632.

At the July 8 meeting, Donald R. Frost, director of public works, reported the estimated cost to the Harvard-Princeton assessment district would be $65,661 with an average assessment of $1,555 per lot.

Yesterday the board was told that subsequent successful negotiations with lot owners and two assessment reductions had now dropped the cost to $59,166 and the average assessment per lot to $1,425.

Hospitals Feel Varied Effects Of Medicare

The impact of Medicare on Marin hospitals since it went into effect July 1 varies sharply.

Terra Linda Valley Hospital, for instance, reports 90 per cent of its patients on the federal program, while Novato General Hospital reports only about 15 per cent.

Except for Ross General Hospital, the county's other three hospitals report few major problems handling the program, which defrays medical costs for persons 65 and older.

DOCTOR WARNS

However, Ross's administrator, Dr. John S. Siemens, suggested government payments "may be insufficient to pay our actual costs, and private patients may have to meet some of these costs."

Under Medicare, hospitals are reimbursed by the government for 90 per cent of a patient's bill, the remaining 10 per cent to be paid after an audit at the end of the year of the hospital's "actual cost."

Dr. Siemens complained that the government's formula for "actual cost" allowed neither working capital nor funds for improvements. If payments are not made promptly by the government, he warned, "we will run out of operating capital."

Ray K. Bolinger, who took over Monday as administrator of Marin General Hospital, said Medicare had obliged the hospital to hire additional personnel to handle increased paper work. About 29 per cent of the hospital's patients are under Medicare, he said.

PATIENT LOAD

The number of patients over 65 increased 20 per cent in March, Bolinger noted, when the state Medicare program started under the Casey bill. The 20 per cent jump has held, he added, under the impact of the closing of San Rafael General Hospital on May 23 and the start of Medicare.

The administrator at Terra Linda Valley Hospital, Dr. Rafael G. Dufficy Jr., explained that the high percentage of Medicare patients at his hospital came about because it specializes in acute extensive care and does not admit children.

Each administrator said his hospital had not refused to admit any Medicare patient.

Assault Charge Filed In Tiburon Deputy Shooting

Pope, of 1 Ebbtide Avenue, Sausalito, was scheduled for arraignment in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon on the felony charge.

He was arrested following a shooting of Deputy William Keaton, 35, in the right hip during a fracas at Prince Charlie Inn, 1704 Tiburon Boulevard. The officer, off-duty, said Pope grabbed his .38 caliber pistol and refused to return it.

They wrestled for the weapon and it was discharged, officers said. Keaton remained in good condition at Marin General Hospital today. Pope is free on $5,000 bail.

Inmate Cuts Arm In County Jail

John Richard Doyle, of Daly City, 27-year-old county jail inmate, was treated by jailers early today for a razor cut on one arm, then returned to his cell. Jailers said it was self-inflicted.

Doyle, who was ordered bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on a felony charge of attempting an unnatural act on a fellow prisoner, was believed to be dispondent over not having been sent to the California Rehabilitation Center at Corona.

Jailers said the minor wound required only a bandage. Doyle was watched carefully throughout the remainder of the morning.

BABY BAT RAYS

Two bat rays, less than a day old, hover near the hands of diver Bruce Parks at Marineland of the Pacific at Palos Verdes. Five rays were born yesterday in the oceanarium's 540,000-gallon fish tank and are believed to be the first ever bred and born in captivity. Parks handles the rays gingerly because they are born with poisonous stingers. (UPI Telephoto)

X-15 Flight Shoots For Star Pictures

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE (AP)—Air Force Maj. William Knight rocketed 46 miles into the sky today to get pictures of stars impossible to obtain on earth.

University of Wisconsin scientists who will study the film hope it will yield new information about the make-up of stars. Much of the light from stars is filtered out by the earth's atmosphere.

Podgorny Again Russ President

MOSCOW (AP) — Nikolai V. Podgorny was re-elected president of the Soviet Union today by the Supreme Soviet, or Parliament.

The unanimous vote was a formality. The Parliament, elected June 12, reappointed Alexei N. Kosygin as premier yesterday. Neither man was named to a fixed term.

Both were nominated to continue in office by Leonid I. Brezhnev, general secretary of the Soviet Communist party. Both, like Brezhnev, are members of the party's 11-man politburo, its top organ.

'Unhappy' Nurses Report For Work

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Nurses went to work as usual today in 31 San Francisco Bay Area hospitals, but many were still smouldering about an interim settlement of their pay dispute.

Their negotiators and representatives of the hospitals agreed early yesterday to submit nurses' demands for higher pay to a three-man commission.

But a survey showed all reported for duty, even though one said, "I don't think very many of them are happy."

Last night nurses stomped their feet, booed their leaders, and gave riotous applause to opponents of the temporary settlement at a meeting in Oakland. The session was called by the California Nurses Assn. to explain terms of the agreement, under which the nurses will work until the three-man commission recommends a pay scale to be in effect between now and the expiration of their current contract in December.

Two-Alarm Blaze Sweeps Restaurant

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A two-alarm fire caused an estimated $20,000 damage to the Rocco Italian restaurant and a second-story flat early today, according to fire department officials.

Inspectors said the blaze began when a cook lighted the stoves in the restaurant's kitchen.

LSD Detection Method Reported

WASHINGTON (SS)—A sensitive method for detecting LSD in sugar cubes was reported today by two members of the Canadian Food and Drug Directorate.

Drs. Czelsawa Radecka and Ishwar C. Nigam said the method will identify LSD doses as small as 50 micrograms, comparable to one or two flakes of bath powder. The dose usually taken is four times that amount.

As described in the Journal of Pharmaceutical Sciences (August 1966), the new method dissolves the cubes and hydrogenates the extract. A process known as thin-layer chromatography will then clearly identify the presence of LSD, said the Canadians.

The detection method is another step toward control of illicit use of LSD.

Injuries Fatal To Accident Victim, 20

Thomas Lee Jackson, 20, of San Anselmo, died early today at a local hospital of head injuries suffered Saturday when his car collided with another on Bridgeway in Sausalito.

His death brought to 16 the number of persons killed on Marin roads this year, one more than last year at this date.

He was an orderly at Hillhaven Convalescent Hospital in San Rafael. A native of California, he lived at 130 Camino de Herra.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Jackson of Clearlake Park, Lake County. Funeral will be held in Lake County.

Freight Jumps Rails In Sierra

TRUCKEE (AP) — Workmen are clearing wreckage of a Southern Pacific Co. freight derailment from tracks today in the Sierra Nevada near the California-Nevada border.

The S.P. said 29 cars of an eastbound freight left the track and blocked both the eastbound and westbound lines.

No one was injured in the accident last night.

Plea Continuance In Murder Case

Plea entry for Mrs. Mary Eckman, 42, charged with the murder of her husband, William F. Eckman, was continued yesterday in Marin Superior Court until Aug. 16.

Reason for the continuance was filing of a motion for discovery by her attorney, Jerome Durham, public defender. The motion seeks access to all police reports, photographs, statements, and other information that may be used in prosecution of the case by the district attorney's office.

Mrs. Eckman allegedly stabbed her husband in the chest July 8 at their home, 520 C Street, San Rafael. She is free on $1,100 bail.

Woman's Will Endows Desert Area Charity

PALM SPRINGS (AP)—Mrs. Pearl McManus, who died July 24 at age 87, leaves an estate of $7 million, $3.5 million of the total going to establish the McCallum Desert Foundation in honor of her father.

In Mrs. McManus's will, filed for probate in Superior Court, the foundation is charged with fostering charitable and educational works in the Palm Springs area.

Blast Rocks Race-Torn Omaha Area

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

An explosion wrecked a filling station early today in an area of Omaha, Neb., where racial violence has erupted, but authorities said there was nothing to connect it with the violence as had been feared.

Police said the explosion probably was natural gas. Five persons were injured by flying glass, but there was no one in the filling station at the time.

A report that a car carrying six white men sped from the scene set off speculation that a fire bomb may have been thrown into the station.

Gov. Frank Morrison and Mayor A.V. Sorensen conferred about Omaha's racial trouble.

Sorensen, 6th graf 147.

SIZZLING ON OUTDOOR GRILL are Mustard Glazed Frankfurters with buns and baked beans. Garden salad and cold drinks complete outdoor menu.

ON THE GRILL

Try Frankfurters With Glaze

Why not grill out tonight and invite the neighbors over for supper? It's a friendly gesture and a delicious idea. What better food than a frankfurter special? Mix brown sugar and brown prepared mustard together.

Split a frankfurter in half lengthwise and spread it with the mixture. Then grill it until sizzling and brown. Put it into a toasted roll and enjoy a delicious mustard-glazed frankfurter special.

With the grilled frankfurters, a dish of baked beans and a garden salad makes an outdoor menu that will please all.

MUSTARD GLAZED FRANKFURTERS

3 tablespoons brown prepared mustard
2 tablespoons light brown sugar
1 pound frankfurters

Mix together brown prepared mustard and brown sugar. Cut frankfurters lengthwise, ¾ of of the way through. Spread mustar-sugar mixture on cut sides of frankfurters. Close franks and secure with toothpicks. Grill, cut side down, over hot coals until brown. Turn and grill on other side.

Makes 7 to 8 servings.

BAKED BEAN CASSEROLE

3 slices bacon
3 tablespoons brown prepared mustard
2 tablespoons light brown sugar
½ teaspoon powdered cloves
½ teaspoon allspice
2 (1 pound) cans baked beans

Preheat oven to 375 degrees F. Partially fry bacon and drain on paper toweling. Mix together mustard, brown sugar, cloves and allspice. Mix mustard-sugar mixture with baked beans and place in a medium-sized casserole. Arrange bacon strips on top of baked beans.

Makes 4-6 servings.

HOT DOG KABOBS

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons minced onion
½ cup tomato ketchup
3 tablespoons brown prepared mustard
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ cup water
½ pound frankfurters
4 slices canned pineapple, drained
1 green pepper
16 large stuffed green olives

Melt butter in skillet. Add onion and cook until tender, not browned. Add ketchup, mustard, Worcestershire sauce and water. Mix well. Preheat broiler 10 minutes. Cut frankfurters crosswise into 3 equal pieces. Cut each slice of pineapple into quarters. Wash green pepper. Remove stem end, membrane and seeds. Cut into 1" squares. Arrange frankfurters, pineapple, green pepper and olives alternately on four, 12 inch skewers. Brush kabobs with half of sauce. Place 5 inches from heat and broil for 3 minutes. Turn, brush with remaining sauce and broil 3 more minutes.

Makes 4 servings.

Scallops Tasty In Fricassee With Artichokes, Carrots

Each August, from the royal blue surfdom of the Atlantic, King Scallop rises to reign majestically at Scallop Festival time. Holding court August 12, 13 and 14 in the historic old whaling port of New Bedford, Mass., this luscious shellfish of the sea is feasted upon by thousands of subjects from near and far.

Underneath the Festival's tented pavilion on the shores of Buzzards Bay, hungry visitors banquet on tons of sea-fresh scallops fried to a golden brown. King Scallop's flavorful reign also sees the crowning of a queenly consort, a scallop recipe contest and scallop shucking "joust" between champion scallopers from New Bedford and Nova Scotia.

The scallop's ever-increasing popularity heralds it as a highly versatile and economical dish. Although frying is the speediest and most practical way of feeding the thirty thousand scallop lovers who attend the annual festival, there are countless other ways to prepare this toothsome mollusk. Here's one that mates scallops with cream of artichoke soup . . . a most happy combination.

SCALLOP ARTICHOKE FRICASSEE

2 lbs. sea scallops, fresh or frozen
1 medium green pepper, finely diced
⅓ cup sliced scallions
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (13 oz.) cream of artichoke soup
1 can (6 oz.) sliced broiled mushrooms
2 cups cooked sliced carrots
½ teaspoon oregano
⅓ cup dry white wine
2 tablespoons snipped parsley
6 large baking powder biscuits

Defrost scallops if frozen; cut in halves. Cook green pepper and scallions in butter until soft but not brown. Add soup, scallops and mushrooms with their broth; simmer 15 minutes. Add carrots, oregano, wine and parsley; simmer 5 minutes longer. Split hot baking powder biscuits; fill and top with scallop mixture. Makes 6 servings.

Mix Cubed Chicken With Green Grapes

CHICKEN SALAD CYNTHIA

4 cups cubed cooked chicken, ½-inch pieces packed down
1½ cups finely diced celery
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon (light) salt
White pepper to taste
Lettuce
3 to 6 medium oranges, pared and cut into rounds
Seedless green grapes.

In a large mixing bowl, toss together the chicken and celery; sprinkle with lemon juice and toss. Stir in mayonnaise, salt and pepper; chill. Line a platter with lettuce; arrange chicken salad in center; surround with orange slices and clusters of grapes. Makes 6 servings.

Crab Meat 'N Tomatoes Buffet Style

Having a group of friends over and wondering how to feed everyone? Make it easy and serve buffet style. During the past few years the buffet has become a popular way of serving a number of people. It may be a planned affair or a spur-of-the-moment idea.

For our buffet we plan to serve: crab meat stuffed tomatoes, a platter of sliced meats and relishes, a mixed green salad, French rolls, and frozen Parfait Cake for dessert.

CRAB MEAT STUFFED TOMATOES

10-12 medium tomatoes
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
monosodium glutamate
½ cup butter
1 8-ounce package herb-seasoned stuffing
2 6-ounce packages frozen crab meat
¼ cup chopped green pepper

Remove centers from tomatoes and crush pulp with a fork. Add salt and pepper to pulp and set aside. Sprinkle inside of tomatoes with a little monosodium glutamate.

Melt butter and add to herb-seasoned stuffing. Fold in tomato mixture, crab meat and green pepper. Blend well. If mixture is dry, add enough water for desired consistency.

Stuff tomatoes and place in buttered baking dish. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 20 to 25 minutes. Serves 8 to 10.

MAKE IT BUFFET STYLE with Crab Meat Stuffed Tomatoes, a platter of sliced meats and relishes, mixed green salad, French rolls and cake for dessert.

COMMANDER'S WIFE

Music Surrounds Her Home

By DOROTHY NEWELL

Music surrounds the home of the new base commander and his family at Hamilton Air Force Base the moment one enters the front door.

"We have wall to wall music," said Mrs. Charles L. Praul, when we stopped by to interview her the other day.

As this vivacious lady opened the front door, a bell on the door played "Bless This House." And if one were to use the back door, one hears "Whistle While You Work."

Holding a prominent place in the living room is an electric organ that Mrs. Praul plays and a beautiful teak cabinet holds stereo and radio equipment.

Mrs. Praul's love of furniture also is shown throughout the home.

That year Col. Praul was sent to Taiwan and the family went with him.

While there, from 1958 to 1962, they replaced all their furniture, including beautiful living room tables of rosewood, made in Hong Kong, that the Prauls designed. They also designed the teak stereo cabinet, made in Taiwan. "These people, (Taiwanese) are great copyers," Mrs. Praul said, "all they need is a picture and they can reproduce it." Their massive teak dining room set was also made in Taiwan.

In the hallway, a small version of a Buddhist altar table holds the Goddess of Mercy. Over the table is a carving from a Taiwanese temple.

WILDA PRAUL met her husband in 1938, when he was a medical student at Kansas City College of Osteopathy and Surgery and she was a secretary. They were married in 1939 and she continued to work while her husband went on to get his degree. He practiced medicine one year.

Colonel Praul entered the service when married men were first taken in the cadet training program. Since 1942 the Prauls have moved 18 times. The last assignment before coming to Hamilton was in Portland, Ore.

They have four children. Two daughters live in Tacoma—Mrs. James Keenan and Jody, who is taking nurse's training at Tacoma General Hospital, and two youngsters still at home, James, 12, and Jerilyn, 7, who was born in Taiwan.

The new commander's wife said she loves people and will be doing a lot of entertaining while at Hamilton which will probably be the last assignment before Col. Praul retires in 1968.

"MARIN COUNTY is the most beautiful place in the world," Mrs. Praul said, "and what a beautiful place for our last assignment."

Among her hobbies along with music and furniture are bowling and golfing.

Her duties as the base commander's wife will include being one of the advisors for the Officers' Wives Club and honorary president of the Noncommissioned Officers' Wives Club.

MRS. CHARLES L. PRAUL, wife of Col. Praul, the new base commander at Hamilton Air Force Base, enjoys one of her pastimes, playing the organ. Looking on are the Prauls' two youngest children, James and Jerilyn. Jerilyn was born in Taiwan when Col. Praul was stationed with the 13th Air Forces, Joint Operations Command, working with the free Chinese.

Sausalito Women Announce Awards

Ronald Gilliam has been awarded the $100 scholarship from the Sausalito Woman's Club's Recognition Fund, Mrs. Emmet L. Rixford announced today.

A graduate of Tamalpais High School, Ronald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Gilliam of Sausalito. The money will be applied to tuition for the fall term at the University of Santa Clara.

Mrs. Rixford, who has been chairman for the fund since it was established in 1956, explained that the fund is separate from the club's annual income. Members may contribute to it in any amount for various reasons, such as to honor an outstanding living club member, or as a memorial to a deceased member or one of a member's family.

To be eligible a student must be under 21 years of age and a resident of Sausalito. The club's board of directors and school authorities determine other qualifications.

Marin Women

VIVACIOUS WILDA PRAUL stands in front of the teak stereo cabinet which was designed by the Prauls and built in Taiwan. Furniture is a hobby of the new base commander's wife and beautiful tables of solid rosewood, designed by the Prauls and made in Hong Kong, immediately catch the eye on entering the living room of their home at Hamilton.

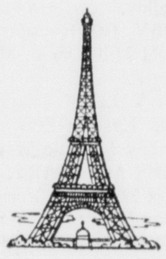
Marinite Renews Friendship With Irene Castle On Trip

By MOLLY MARIN

Sailing for Europe on the France this week is Dante Leland of Tiburon. Mr. Leland will accompany the internationally known dancer Irene Castle on the voyage. Mr. Leland, who first met the then Miss Irene Foote over fifty years ago, when he was a student at Harvard, renewed the friendship last year. The dancer, a partner in the legendary team of Vernon and Irene Castle, toured Europe and the United States from 1911-1918, introducing such dances as the Texas Tommy, the Grizzly Bear and the Castle Walk. Vernon Castle lost his life during the First World War, when he was an aviator with the Canadian Air Corps. The lovely Irene married four times after Vernon's death. She venerated the memory of her first husband and erected a life-sized statue over his grave at Lake Forest, Ill., where Mrs. Castle makes her home. A chance encounter with Mr. Leland's sister, who lives in Florence, Italy, started the recent correspondence between the Tiburon man and Mrs. Castle. Mrs. Castle invited Dante to visit her at her winter home in Eureka Springs, Ark., last December. Plans were then made for the trip to Europe this summer. Mr. Leland met Mrs. Castle in Chicago Sunday and they traveled together to New York. They will visit France and Italy. Dante Leland, son of the late Col. Francis O. Leland, New York financier, lived abroad for a number of years and speaks both French and Italian fluently. Now retired from the antique importing business, Dante frequently has volunteered his language skills to members of the Tiburon Peninsula Club seeking to improve their French.



MRS. CONSTANT M. VAN VLIERDEN was hostess Monday to an interesting group of women at a luncheon at the Spinnaker Restaurant following a gathering for cocktails at the Van Vlierdens' new home in Sausalito.

As wife of the Bank of America's vice president of the international department in charge of Europe, Mrs. Van Vlierden takes a great interest in helping to make home leaves pleasant for the families of other officials in Europe, where the bank has offices or representatives.

Her guests Monday included Mrs. Roland Peroti, wife of the bank's second executive vice president in San Francisco; Mrs. Ralph Young, whose husband is vice president in charge of the London office covering England, Scotland and Wales; Mrs. Luca Magugliani, whose husband is head of the office for Italy in Milan; and Mrs. Robert Belanger, who will soon be going with her husband to the London office.

Mrs. Magugliani, whose American husband does not use his title of Marquis as a member of an old Italian family, had many interesting things to say about the La Scala opera.

Yesterday Mrs. Van Vlierden and some of her guests, together with other wives of bank officials, made up a picnic trip to Sonoma for 18 adults and children of overseas families.

HOME FOLLOWING a month's vacation in the northwest are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lindauer of the Marin Country Club Estates. The Lindauers left Novato on July 2 and spent a few days in Vancouver, Wash., and Portland, Ore. before going north. They met a group of 75 people, Shriners and their wives, at Vancouver, B.C., where they boarded the Princess Pat for a leisurely eight day trip on the inland passage to Skagway, Alaska. As a side trip they took the narrow guage railroad to Carcross, the trail of the 98, where the gold miners and herds of Caribou crossed the Yukon. They stopped at all ports of call, on the 2000-mile trip. On July 12 they spent Art's birthday at Kechikan where there was still daylight at 12:30 a.m.

Following their trip on the Princess Pat, the Lindauers drove to Banff, Lake Louise and Jasper. They are both golfers, and enjoyed playing at the Royal Oaks in Vancouver, Wash., Capilano in Vancouver, B.C., and Banff Springs and Jasper.

Procedures Class To Be Held Fridays

Another 20-hour parliamentary procedures class has been started at the home of Mrs. S. C. Stapp in Sausalito meeting on Fridays from 10 a.m. to noon.

Also taking the course are Mrs. George Chapman, president and Mrs. Conrad Kett, past president of the Sausalito Woman's Club, and Mrs. Arthur Luchetti, new president of the Golden Gate District.

Since this class is already filled, Mrs. Stapp said that anyone wishing to start another may obtain further information by calling her or Mrs. Norman, who lives in San Francisco.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

'Snooping' Mother Is Advised Open Diary Is A Cry For Help

DEAR HELEN:

Several times lately our daughter's diary has been open on her desk. I have always closed it without reading and put it away. If she trusts me enough to leave her personal writing exposed, then certainly I felt I shouldn't betray that trust by "snooping."

But yesterday as I was dusting I gave in to curiosity and what I read shocked me. Our quiet girl, who we thought well-balanced and very mature, is a terribly mixed-up child.

She has allowed too many privileges to a boy we thought we could trust, and her diary said, "Half the time I hate him and the other half I hate myself, but if I break off he'll tell everybody, and sometimes I wish I was brave enough to die. . . . But then I love him too, I guess, when I'm not hating him. . . . And I feel so alone. . . ."

Helen if she learns I've read her diary, she'll hate me too. We're alike in a way, because neither of us can talk as well as we can write our feelings, yet we do love each other. I want to help. How can I? —SNEAK

DEAR SNEAK:

You're more blind than sneaky if you can't see your daughter's open diary is a cry for help from a girl who has never learned to ask for it. She wanted you to read—why else would she have left it exposed?

Here's a suggestion: Clip my answer to the diary page and underline the following: "Let's have that long-overdue talk, honey, we'll work this out together."

You can, you know, once you realize how much each of you needs the other. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

I don't see how a woman could want a man who is no husband to her. He leaves for work before she gets up, and comes home at night after she is in bed.

Yet she is giving me a hard time. The other day she came to the office where I work as his secretary, and told me she had no intention of giving him up after 30 years of marriage. She said that I was not the first "extra" in his life and I wouldn't be the last, as this had gone on for 15 years; but I was giving her the most trouble.

I don't believe her. He tells me all about how cold she is and I'm the only thing that keeps him going. He has been very good to me; has given me presents of clothes and a small car, and even takes my young children on weekends with us when I am unable to get a baby sitter. But I want a real home for myself and my children. How can I get this selfish woman to see things my way?

—DIVORCEE

DEAR DIVORCEE:

My dear, you (and all the other "extras") are keeping this elderly playboy going all right; straight back to his wife of 30 years.

Your boss is on a long tether, but he'll never pull up the stake. Why should he, with such liberal grazing privileges? —H.

DEAR HELEN:

Thanks for printing the letter from "Ready to Serve" about the inhumanity of man toward small businesses. Just one thing I'd like to add: People buy full bottles at the supermarket, then bring back the empties for us to cash in.

—CORNER GROCERY

DEAR HELEN:

Would some of your kind readers send picture post cards and travel notes to my elderly neighbor who lives alone and is crippled with arthritis? She has always wanted to travel, but circumstances have prevented. Letters from different parts of the country would cheer her. She is: Mrs. Sara King, 37 Goodrich St., Pelzer, S.C. 29669. —L. P.

Sharon Goodrich Is Married In San Rafael Church Rite

The Church of the Blessed Sacrament in San Rafael was the setting for the wedding of Sharon Goodrich and Kenneth Burge at 11 o'clock Saturday morning.

Sharon was given in marriage by her father, Gerald Goodrich of San Rafael. The Rev. Raymond Mahar officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Sandy Meinzer of Tahoe City was maid of honor. Nancy Valdor of San Rafael and Chris Grandi of Los Altos were bridesmaids. All wore light blue linen sleeveless floor length gowns with accent of multicolor embroidered flowers at the empire waist.

Best man was Perry Hillburg of Pomona, with the bride's brother, Jerry Goodrich of San Rafael, and the groom's brother, Rodney Dougan of Forest Knolls, ushers.

The reception was held at the Deer Park Villa in Fairfax. A wedding trip to Carmel, then up the coast to Oregon is planned. The couple will live in Nicasio.

Sharon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Goodrich of San Rafael. Her sister is Mrs. Dennis Finch of San Francisco. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Winfield J. Hocking of San Francisco.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dougan of Forest Knolls. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Burge of Carmel and the brother of Rodney and Denise Dougan of Forest Knolls.

Sharon is a graduate of Terra Linda High School, and attended Chico State College. She is employed at Sears Roebuck and Co. in San Rafael.

An employee of Paradise Pool Service, Kenneth is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School.

Shopping in the Village with Carol King and Pat Reynolds
Town & Country Village

Village shops are taking on the warm shades of autumn these days. Lovely fall fashions are arriving daily and back-to-school styles are now in stock. Plan a shopping or browsing trip to The Village soon. Window shoppers welcome at STRAWBERRY

We are delighted to inform our readers that they can benefit by the professional interior decorating skills of RHODA SELDEN. Addressing your questions to her at 312 Town & Country Village . . . she will answer one question each week in this column. RHODA SELDEN, gracious and talented interior designer, provides a complete decorating service . . . including upholstery and re-upholstering, custom designed draperies, and a full line of decorative home accessories. The latter are an important part of the highly personal business of furnishing one's home, and RHODA SELDEN never feels her job is finished until the last accessory is in place and your room is attractively livable.

The new KUBLAI KHAN restaurant makes a lovely setting for luncheon-fashion shows. On Friday, August 5th, Laila of Nasimo's will be showing the fabulous fall collection of Rudi Gernreich. KUBLAI KHAN accommodates groups up to seventy-five people, so if your womens' organization, club or any group, for that matter, is interested in holding a luncheon-fashion show, Mr. Stanley Toy will be glad to help with the arrangements.

Still time to get your free ticket for the Special Drawing, Thurs., August 4th, at INTERNATIONALE, LTD., The Village's newest jewelry and gift store. Prizes are worth hundreds of dollars.

Hey, here's a handy hint for husbands of harried housewives . . . take home a casserole dinner from L'ENTREE and you'll be "golden" . . . you can even bring home the boss (along with the casserole) and know your wife won't panic. These casseroles are always delicious and are served proudly as company dinner or family fare. L'ENTREE has a casserole menu to please any palate and still be kind to the family budget. You can pick-up complete dinners that include choice of casserole, green salad and Specialty Buttered Bread . . . or choose an entree-only casserole and add your own trimmings.

Now in progress at K. MYERS FABRICS, a remnant sale that includes a few summer cottons at a full fifty per cent reduction. Lovely fall fabrics arriving now at K. MYERS. If you are thinking about back-to-school sewing, you'll want to see this Autumn selection soon.

Take a peek at the teak furniture at IMPORTS INTERNATIONAL, and you'll find some fine examples of this beautiful, oiled finish wood. There are many sizes and styles of tables (end, coffee, dining, etc.) and, one of our favorites, a handsome table-style desk. This desk is both utilitarian and beautiful, with subtle design to blend with many decors. Just in at IMPORTS INTERNATIONAL, some fairly large, very impressive looking pictures from Spain. These are on canvas, many are copies of Old Masters, others have a more contemporary feeling . . . some magnificent sea-scapes in this collection, too.

Looked as if half of Marin took us at our word and decided to wish the HICK'RY PIT a happy birthday, last week. While we happily munched those wonderful barbecued ribs, we noticed that now and then a few people had to wait for a table. We also noticed that no one waited very long! So, if you find the HICK'RY PIT a bit crowded, you can be sure your wait will be short at this popular family restaurant. The service here is friendly and efficient . . . and hungry youngsters rarely have a chance to get crabby.

We want to remind you about the excellent watch and jewelry repair service at VILLAGE JEWELERS. (If your watch accidently goes swimming with you, be sure to take it for repair as soon as possible. VILLAGE JEWELERS tells us that the faster they can give "first aid." the better the chances of survival of these summer soakings.)

We've been yaking away about the barbecued chickens at BERNSTEIN'S DELICATESSEN, and we always advise you to phone ahead (388-7206) for this popular poultry so you won't be disappointed. However, if you are not always that organized and happen to drop in when they don't have any birds ready, here's a delicious suggestion. BERNSTEIN'S roast beef is just rather magnificent . . . we stopped by at the last minute last week and found the chickens undone (so to speak) and settled for roast beef and potato salad . . . and it was very, very good.

You will be delighted with the decor at ALBERTA OF MARIN'S new location. Her shop faces the center mall and can be spotted by the charming flower cart outside her door. Bring your favorite vases to ALBERTA and she will create a complimentary arrangement of your purchase of her fine artificial flowers.

Ladies-in-waiting need wait no longer for some marvelous buys on summer fashions at EXPECTATION MATERNITY SHOP. These up-to-date sale items are from their regular stock of fashionably flattering maternity clothes, and include dresses, capris, tops and separates. EXPECTATION MATERNITY SHOP specializes in personalized service to help their customers find just the right style for most any occasion, and at remarkably realistic prices. There's a lot of summer weather ahead, so be sure to check this summer sale.

Certainly, by now, you are aware that HICKORY FARMS OF OHIO carries 126 varieties of some of the world's best cheese . . . but have you noticed the fabulous selection of crackers they offer, to accompany the cheese and as delicious "nibblers." You'll want to try the Bremer Wafers, Hickory Farms Old Fashioned Crackers, Table Water Biscuits, Old Fashioned Crackers, Table Water Biscuits (in two sizes) and a boxed assortment of Biscuits for Cheese . . . all of these are especially appropriate companions for HICKORY FARMS cheeses. To name but a few "nibblers," Sesami Stix, Hickory Farms Old Fashioned Cheese Sticks (great alone or with dips), and for an intriguingly different sweet treat, try the Banana Chips from the Philippine Islands. We have only opened the lid on the HICKORY FARMS cracker barrel . . . if you poke around for yourself, we know you will find many old and new favorites.

Adults and children alike are enchanted by the delightful, wee size books by Joan Walsh Anglund at CAPRICORN BOOKS. Beautifully illustrated, these books extend a worthwhile message to young and old. CAPRICORN BOOKS also carries the beautiful, old fashioned looking dolls that match each story . . . as well as prints of the illustrations, both framed and unframed. "A Friend Is Someone Who Likes You" . . . and so is the person who gives you this book by Joan Walsh Anglund.

Would you believe . . . a salty ceramic king? How about a pretty peppery queen? They are just an example of the delightful collection of ceramic and bone china salt and pepper shakers at HAPPY HOUSE. Another favorite of ours is the delicate, white bone china, individual size shakers in the shape of doves . . . lovely for a luncheon table setting. Also of note at HAPPY HOUSE . . . the selection of teakettles, in copper or enamel on metal.

"Dear MUTTS OF MARIN—just a quick note before I 'blow' town ('cause they're coming to take me away to the A.S.P.C.A.). I want you to know I tried, I really did . . . but who could love an owner who won't buy his dog one of those terrific, new, plastic, washable, non-chewable dog beds from MUTTS OF MARIN! Farewell for now. Yers trooley, A Mangy (Marin) Mutt."

Found a dandy new gadget at VILLAGE LIQUORS. This is the Chill Master . . . an instant glass chiller that requires neither batteries nor electricity. With the Chill Master, in either one or two glass size, you can chill any shape glass to frosty perfection. VILLAGE LIQUORS points out that the Chill Master would be an elegant companion for boating and camping, as well as a real cool addition to any household.

Very special price now on French champagne at VILLAGE LIQUORS. This is Laurent Perrier Special Cuvee, imported by Munson G. Shaw Co. of New York. For a limited time only, you can buy this champagne for four, ninety a bottle . . . (special case price is fifty-two, ninety-two.).

Board's Queries Stall Airport Expansion Vote

Steps toward expansion of the Marin CountyAirport at Novato were stalled yesterday when county supervisors developed doubts about the propriety of some phases of the deals involved.

The board had been expected to act on two matters:

1. Purchase of 27.26 acres of land from the Bodkin Estate and an aviation easement over another eight acres at a total cost of $96,000.

2. Renewal of an option from the W. Q. Wright family, due to expire Aug. 14, on 27.46 acres at a total cost of $110,000.

Questions raised by Supervisor Ernest N Kettenhofen regarding the Wright property caused postponement of a decision on both properties to next Tuesday.

The agreement with the Wright family, negotiated last April, calls for payment of $68,650 for purchase of the 27.46 acres,$6,280 for purchase of an easement on 5.06 acres, $25,070 for severance on approximately 21 acres and $10,000 for reversionary rights on the present runway.

Both the severance payment and the reversionary rights payment were brought into question.

Kettenhofen argued that the land separated by the new runway from other Wright holdings would increase in value not decrease if the airport were developed.

John Chambers of the county assessors office, told the board, however, that appraisers cannot take into account what the effect of future developments may be on a piece of property when appraising it.

Of more concern to the board were issues raised by the reversionary rights purchase.

The county now owns only the 10 acres occupied by the existing runway. When this property was purchased from the Wrights in 1951, they retained the right to recover the property for $2,000 an acre in the event it was abandoned as an airport facility.

The board said it wanted to study these matters:

1. If the runway is to be abandoned when the new one is built as is called for in plans for the airport, would it be proper for the county to pay $10,000 for reversionary rights?

2. If the decision is not to purchase those rights, would it be proper to pay $25,000 in severance rights, when the Wright family would be able to recover the runway property and end the severance of 16.5 acres from another 5 acres, complete with access?

The board will have to reach a decision before Aug. 14, when the option on the Wright acreage terminates.

Both purchase agreements are conditional on federal appropriation of funds in September for the development.

Byron W. Leydecker, board chairman, said yesterday that it appears unlikely the federal funds will be forthcoming. He urged the county airport commission to come up with alternative plans so that the county could go ahead on its own if need be.

Misdemeanor, Felonies Draw Two-Year Term

Michael Richard Colvard, 21, San Francisco, was given a year in county jail and placed on a year's probation yesterday in Marin Superior Court for two felonies and a misdemeanor violation.

Judgment came following his guilty pleas to attempted burglary of Drake Cleaners at 1587 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax, on July 3, concealing stolen property, and carrying concealed weapons without a license.

A co-defendant, Ronald H. Berg, 21, of San Francisco, also faces the attempted burglary and concealing stolen property charges. Berg, not in custody, is also charged with having five automatic pistols in his possession while being a convicted felon.

A bench warrant has been issued for his arrest. New bail is $11,000.

Trust Deeds Bundle Stolen From Car

A bundle of 22 deeds of trust valued at $53,000 was taken from his unlocked car sometime between 7 a.m. Friday and 6 p.m. Monday, Robert Charles Roberts, 30, of 14 Oak Valley Road, Novato, reported Monday to Novato police.

The deeds are for a subdivision in Santa Maria, he said. They were placed in a bundle in his car which during the period, was parked at the Roberts and Aguirre office at 1608 Grant Avenue, Novato, in Santa Rosa, San Francisco and also at his home in Novato, he told police.

Mill Valley Board Adopts Budget

Fiscal 1967 budget of $2,520,320 was adopted Monday by Mill Valley School District trustees, this being the same figure as the publication budget approved July 5. Tax rate, $2.68 per $100 assessed valuation, is estimated to be $3.15 this fiscal year.

The 1966 budget was $2,101,660.

The board expressed "deep concern and interest" in a letter from Perry Howell, chairman of the Church and Society Committee of St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church, Marin City, relating to fair employment practices. The board will review a resolution on fair employment Sept. 26.

Next meeting of the board will be Sept. 12.

30-DAY FORECAST

Near normal precipitation and temperatures are forecast for the Bay Area during the next 30 days, according to these weather maps. Forecasts are based on information supplied by the U.S. Weather Bureau.

Worthington Claim Will Get Hearing

A $150,000 claim to the state by Robert K. Worthington, Point Reyes Station contractor, was set yesterday for hearing in San Francisco on Nov. 3-4.

Worthington submitted his claim Mar. 29 to the state Board of Control, which administers a new law to provide compensation to citizens who incur losses while aiding in the arrest of criminals. Worthington was a key witness in last fall's Sally Stanford burglary trial.

His role as an informer in the San Francisco burglary plot drained $100,000 worth of business from his contracting firm, he said, and he claimed emotional and physical damage from a series of threats which culminated in an attack on his life.

The November hearing was set by the Board of Control, meeting in Sacramento.

No citizens have received compensation under the law, passed by the legislature in 1965. Five claims, besides Worthington's, are being investigated.

In his petition to the state, he said he spent so much time helping officers crack the case that he was unable to maintain his business. Then, after the threats began, he found he was unable to get work or financing because of the fears of others that he would be hurt or killed.

Congressmen Rap Tax Collectors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Challenging the Internal Revenue Service's investigation of the Sierra Club's tax-exempt status, 12 congressmen say they will claim tax deductions for contributions to the organization.

The congressmen notifed IRS Commissioner Sheldon Cohen yesterday they are concerned whether the service "ought properly to set public policy or whether its only proper function is to carry out tax policy set by Congress."

Two California congressmen, Philip Burton, D-Calif., and Thomas M. Ress, D-Calif., were among the 12 who sent Cohen a letter.

Rise In Nonwhite Percentage Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau predicted today that the percentage of nonwhites to the total U.S. population will rise by 1985 to about 13 or 14 per cent, a climb of more than one percentage point.

In 1965, the bureau estimated the nonewhite population at 23.1 million or 11.9 per cent of the total.

The bureau said the nonwhite population will increase by 1985 to between 32 million and 38 million—depending on the estimate used — out of a total population then between 239 million and 273 million.

Alert Truck Drivers Help Capture Escaper

An escaped San Quentin Prison convict was arrested in downtown San Rafael late last night by a San Rafael policeman after the prisoner had thumbed a ride with two nervous truck drivers.

Henry Jackson Jr., 25, serving five years to life for armed robbery, was discovered missing from San Quentin at 11:10 p.m. yesterday evening.

Shortly after midnight, he approached Otto Hembd and James P. Roback, employees of Nationwide Rentals at 439 Francisco Boulevard saying he wanted "a ride downtown."

Hembd and Roback, suspicious because Jackson had grass in his hair and was dressed in damp prison denims, drove him to the Shell Service Station at Second and Lincoln, then stopped on the pretext of "calling the boss."

Hembd called San Rafael police, while Roback stayed in the car with Jackson. Patrolman Bardal W. Stinson responded to the call, and promptly handcuffed Jackson. A San Quentin guard later identified Jackson and returned him to the prison.

Jackson, a native of Texas, has been a San Quentin inmate since January. Prison authorities said he walked away from the ranch dormitory outside the walls west of the main prison building.

San Anselmo School Tax Rate Boosted

San Anselmo School District board last night adopted a budget which will cause an 18 cent increase in the district's total tax rate, from $2.95 to $3.13 per $100 assessed valuation.

The budget, adopted without comment from the audience of 18 persons or the board, is for $1,421,077.

The tax rate increase will come entirely in override taxes. For the first time, the district will levy a 10 cent override tax for seventh and eighth grade education. A 5 cent health and welfare tax will pay for employee health insurance. the other 3 cents will be used for state loan repayments.

San Anselmo School District Board also:

1. Conferred with 15 of the 100 persons who had been asked to serve on a committee to study a possible bond issue and hike in the operating tax rate. They agreed the committee should meet Sept. 28 to set an agenda and select officers. The study should also consider ramifications of a successful unification vote, they decided.

2. Hired Brenda A. Brown as district librarian for $7,626 annually.

3. Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Aug. 16at Brookside School, when they will discuss pupil transportation.

Dr. Elmer A. Weden Jr., on sick leave, was absent.

How To Reach Powerless Police

In event of an emergency, people could have contacted the Novato Police Department by either of two methods during the two brief intervals in which the power was off to the police station yesterday and Monday, Police Chief Robert Di Grazia said.

The power was off for 11 minutes Monday and 14 minutes yesterday during the mornings.

People could have called the telephone operator and made radio contact with the police via the Marin County Communications Center, or phoned to the city hall next to the police station.

The police station, which is located in an old house next to the city hall, is having the wiring completely renovated, the chief said. The two power breaks came while workmen were replacing key wires to the auxiliary power unit, according to the chief.

"Not since the emergency generator was installed on Dec. 31, 1960 has the Novato Police Department been without electricity to carry on its functions," the chief said.

Television Taken

Thomas J. Taylor of 261 Morningside Drive, Corte Madera, complained to police last night that someone entered his house through an unlocked door yesterday and stole a $150 television set.

Settlement Ends River Boat Suit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Attorneys settled a claim against the onetime river boat Delta King today and announced that within six months it would be opened as a floating hotel and night spot on San Francisco Bay.

As a $51,423 suit for unpaid refurbishing bills came up for the second day of trial, U. S. District Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli was informed the case had been settled out of court for $49,193.

Defense attorney Richard Gerry said remodeling of the one-time luxury river boat would be resumed immediately at Stockton, where she has been tied up by the court action.

Gerry said that within six months it would become a 60-room hotel with three restaurants, a night club, massage parlor and steam room.

He said the owners, San Francisco attorney Mel Belli and retired Air Force Col. Max Mortenson of Stockton, are negotiating for three or four sites.

Gerry placed remodeling costs at $1.1 million, compared to the original cost of $1 million when the Delta King was built in Stockton in 1927.

The suit was brought by Grogan Plumbing and Heating Co. of Stockton for part of the remodeling work. Gerry said plaintiffs wanted $63,000, including attorney's fees.

In the only day of court hearing, Monday, Gerry argued that the bill was too high and that the case was improperly in federal court because the Delta King was no longer a vessel and hence not subject to federal maritime laws.

Hearings On Tiburon Rail Line End

The Interstate Commerce Commission's hearings into the joint application by Northwestern Pacific Railroad to abandon its Tiburon line and by Santa Fe Railway Co., to end its barge service to Tiburon, ended in San Francisco at noon yesterday.

John Messer, special ICC examiner, said the matter is now submitted, but a ruling will not be made on the application for some time.

Attorney Boris Lacusta, acting for the city of San Rafael, Marin County and southern Marin industrial interests, told the Independent-Journal yesterday that the railroad has "agreed positively" to restore the Puerto Suello tunnel before Tiburon service is discontinued, probably by 1967.

SIGNS MUST FALL IN MILL VALLEY

City Officials Prepare Unhasty, Firm Enforcement After Tomorrow's Deadline

What will happen to Mill Valley merchants and property owners whose rooftop and "for sale" signs are still up after the city's new sign ordinance goes into effect tomorrow?

Nothing at least not immediately—city officials conceded today. But they promised the ordinance will be enforced within a short time.

Tomorrow is the deadline for the revised ordinance, which requires that 30 persons must take down rooftop signs and that others who have posted "for sale" signs bearing names of real estate companies, must remove them.

Individual letters will be sent out this week to each violator, said City Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon today. They will demand that all signs be removed seven days after the letter has been received.

"If they don't remove them, the city will remove them and store them. We will probably charge some nominal sum for storage to cover cost of recovering them. The 'for sale' signs are worth about $10 or $15 apiece," said Bragdon.

There are a few "for sale" signs, about five or 10, which will be permitted to remain until expiration of temporary sign permits. These permits were taken out prior to the city council announcing the ordinance, Bragdon related.

The Marin County Real Estate Board will also be notified that "for sale" signs, other than those put up by the owner himself, are now illegal in Mill Valley.

Should the owner feel there is a reason why his rooftop sign should not be removed, he will be given time to show cause. This also includes the possibility of a real, but not financial, hardship.

The number of rooftop signs, at first estimated at 15, has now been placed at 30, Bragdon reported. A rooftop sign is defined as one which protrudes above the roofline, and does not have to be affixed to a roof. The rooftop signs have been non-conforming since 1956, according to Bragdon.

"Of the 30, maybe one or two will be permitted to remain," said Bragdon.

Supervisors Don't Object To Watching

From now on, the comings and goings of Marin County supervisors will be watched carefully from a third story window in Civic Center.

But board members know about it. In fact, yesterday they agreed to place themselves in a position where County Clerk George H. Gnoss can keep a better eye on them.

Members approved a re-shuffling of spaces in the center parking lot which would place their cars beneath the window of Gnoss's office.

"This was done at my request," Gnoss said today. "We often receive telephone calls for a supervisor and it is much better if I can look out of my window to determine at a glance if that particular member is in the building."

The area reserved for department heads will be given an additional space, for John M. Douglas, director of economic development.

Last Assessment Protests Heard

Today, county officials began to calculate the impact of the equalization hearings on the projected tax rate.

Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell said it will probably be Friday before the final figures are known, but said it appears the reductions made by supervisors, sitting as the county board of equalization, were "very much below what was anticipated and very much less than last year."

Therefore, he said, it seems almost certain the county tax rate will be less than the $2.235 which was expected before the hearings began.

Last year, the supervisors granted a total of $761,110 in assessment reductions.

One of the last decisions yesterday was a reduction of $139,200 in the assessed valuation of the Town and Country Village shopping center in Strawberry.

About 390 protests were heard in the hearings, which began July 6.

By July 25, a total of 279 applications had been heard, with 145 granted at a reduction of $455,930 in the assessment rolls.

Mitchell said he allowed $900,000 for adjustments in his earlier estimate of the tax rate for fiscal 1967.

Old Olema Hotel's Fate Still Not Set

The fate of the historic old Olema Hotel still hung in the balance today, since the Marin County Building Code Board of Appeals was unable to make a quorum yesterday and an anticipated hearing on the hotel's future was postponed.

Residents who want the building demolished and others who want it saved, showed at yesterday's scheduled hearing. However, only four of the board's nine members showed up. The hearing was postponed till Monday at 3 p.m.

Corte Madera Sewer Board Trims Budget

Corte Madera Sanitary District Board last night adopted a budget of $246,817.98 for fiscal 1967, a decrease of $4,991.28 from last year's budget of $251,809.26.

The board set an operational tax rate of 89 cents per $100 assessed valuation, the same tax as last year. Marin County supervisors will set the bond redemption tax rate for the district. Last year's total tax rate was $1.20.

Part of the decrease in this year's budget comes in the amount of money set aside for bond redemption. Last year $62,409.26 was set aside. This year the amount is $59,917.98.

The remainder of the budget, $189,900, goes into the district's operating and maintenance fund. That figure last year was $189,400. Robert M. Haight, attorney for the district, agreed that 89 cents tax may well bring in more than $186,900 and said the difference will go into the district's capital improvement program.

Corte Madera Sanitary District Board also:

1. Agreed to apply with the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for $71,000, part of the $135,000 cost of laying a sewer line along Paradise Drive between Sea Wolf Passage and Golden Hinde Passage.

2. Completed proceedings for the annexation of Frank Janda's lot at 139 Paradise Cove to the district.

3. Heard a report that, with the deadline for filing of petitions of candidacy tomorrow, only incumbent Lawrence T. Elleson has filed. Director Charles Crow was still undecided as to whether he would seek re-election. Papers have been taken out but not filed by James M. Kennedy of 495 Redwood Avenue.

4. Set the sewage treatment and disposal charge for trailer courts in the district last year at $34.70 per million gallons.

5. Awarded a $2,003.65 contract for a pick-up truck to Ames Ford, lowest of six bidders.

Reed District Trims Budget

By a 3-1 vote the Reed School District Board cut $6,786 from its fiscal 1967 budget, and then adopted a publication budget of $1,519,036.

Board chairman James B. Atkin, who dissented, said the cut would mean a tax rate of $3.315 cents per $100 assessed valuation, up from $3.27 last year. Atkin felt the $6,786, which came from an adjustment in the net beginning balance, should be put into undistributed reserves instead.

The board also appointed trustee David D. Ring to represent the district at a hearing Aug. 9-10 on the Unruh Education Act by the State Senate Fact Finding Committee on Education.

Atkin said the board's position is that school district unification is generally a good thing but difficult to achieve in metropolitan areas with archaic school boundaries.

Board member Mrs. Alyce Farkas was absent.

BIRTHDAY REUNION

Marine Tracks Down Brother In Viet Nam

With lucky timing and a little effort, a Marine from Woodacre located his sailor-brother in Viet Nam in time to celebrate the latter's 20th birthday July 21.

Marine Lance Corporal Miguel Garcia, 21, found his brother, Arthur "Tudy" Garcia peeling potatoes at the Navy Mobile Construction Battalion unit in Da Nang. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel U. Garcia of 35 Madrone Avenue, Woodacre.

"Mike, what are you doing here? How in the world did you find me?" Arthur reacted to the sight of his brother. Miguel said it had not been difficult. He knew from his brother's letters that he was on mess cook duty in Da Nang. Miguel was aboard the light cruiser Oklahoma City, and when it came into Da Nang Harbor, he got a leave and hitchhiked to Camp Hoover, the SeaBee headquarters, where he found Arthur.

Celebrating Arthur's birthday the next day, the two toured the Oklahoma City, flagship of Vice Admiral John J. Hyland, commander of the Seventh Fleet. Miguel is an orderly on the admiral's staff. The brother's reunion ended with the tour.

Housing Authority Reveals Closed-Session Land Deal

The authority has secured an extension of an option to purchase property from John L. Oliveira for a low income housing project for the elderly in Homestead Valley.

The authority has been unable to obtain similar extension from Robert Maguire who owns the remainder of the .9 acres, but plans under its power option to purchase the Maguire property.

The Independent-Journal requested minutes of the meeting yesterday afternoon, which according to law must be shown to the public. Stutsman said that he could not show the minutes, which had not yet been typed, but would consult with the authority's attorney.

Stutsman agreed to release the information today since negotiations with Oliveira have been made and there is no need that it be held confidential, the director said today.

The so-called Ralph M. Brown Act" requires that all meetings of governmental bodies be open to the public except in cases of hiring, firing or bringing charges.

The housing authority will appeal to the County Planning Commission Monday a recommendation by County Zoning Administrator Thomas Cordill that the proposed housing be limited to 20 units. Thirty units have been proposed.

Marinwood Cow Pasture Gets Blessing

The executive board of Marinwood Homeowners Assn. agreed last night not to oppose grazing of cattle on 276 acres of open land to the north and west of the community.

"We will not object," association president Jack G. Nixon said today, "if sufficient restrictions can be placed on the land so the use will not be a nuisance to anyone." Ralph Kairns, assistant county zoning administrator, is considering a variance to permit George Newell and Julie Sequeira to graze about 50 cattle on land zoned for single-family development.

Many residents opposed the variance yesterday at a hearing by Kairns.

John Osborne, of 2034 Huckleberry Road, was elected to the executive board to replace Joseph Scudder, who is moving out of the county.

In response to complaints from members of the association, the board agreed to determine what can be done about homes which are badly maintained.

Tennis Court Plans Postponed

The Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission last night agreed to a county planning department request that a decision on the location of the city's planned tennis courts be postponed until the county finished the city's general plan.

The commissioners agreed to reconsider the tennis court plans in January.

Commissioner N. Thomas Gaona resigned from the commission last night, noting that his activities with the Bay Area Youth Tennis Program are taking up most of his time.

City Clerk Frances Lestanguet said today that anyone interested in filling the board vacancy caused by Gaona's resignation should contract her at the Fairfax City Hall.

Sanitary District Lowers Budget But Not Taxes

The Richardson Bay Sanitary District board last night kept the fiscal 1967 tax rate at 50 cents although it had previously lowered the new budget $22,000 to $166,850.

"Increased costs prohibited us from lowering the tax rate," Secretary Alfred O. Pratesi said. Among costs he cited was an estimated $60,000 for a sludge digester at the Trestle Glen Treatment Plant.

The board also instructed district engineer J. Warren Nute and board attorney Sherrod Davis to look into a proposal by the Dorr-Oliver Corp. of Norwalk, Conn. to install the equipment at that price.

Pratesi said the district is still looking into the problem of grease in its Ricardo Road pumping station.

Trustees Hike Budget 10 Per Cent

The Fairfax School District board of trustees last night adopted a final budget totaling $632,477.33, an increase of $62,561 over last year's budget.

Supt. H. Reginald Hammond said no increase in last year's tax rate of $2.64 per $100 assessed valuation is expected. He said assessed valuation in the district is up about 36 per cent.

The budget includes a 4 per cent raise for all district employees.

The board aproved an application for $17,389 in federal funds for continuation of last year's remedial reading and math proprams for fourth through eighth grade students.

The board also approved a contract with the Marin County Schools Office for educational data processing service for the 1966-67 school year. Hammond said this is the first time the district will have data processing, and the cost to the district will be about $1.20 a year per student.

Four new teachers were hired. Mrs. Jacqueline Strong and Miss Lucy Bozeman will teach second grade at Manor School, Mrs. Shirley Keilty will teach sixth grade at Deer Park School, and Paul Barbarini will teach seventh grade at Central School.

San Anselmo Trustee Resigns

Doris Harnsberger, a trustee of the San Anselmo School District since November, 1961, resigned last night, effective Aug. 15.

Mrs. Harnsberger explained that her husband, H. F. Harnsberger, plans a year of research at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The family will move to Boston for that year.

Her term of office will expire June 30, 1967. The board asked that persons wishing to fill that term apply at the district office by Sept. 15 and said it would make an appointment at the Sept. 20 meeting.

Trust Deeds Found In San Francisco

A bundle of 22 deeds of trust, taken from an unlocked car in Novato over the weekend was found on Polk Street in San Francisco today.

Robert Charles Robers, 14 Oak Valley Road, Novato, reported the theft of the deeds to Novato police yesterday. Valued at $53,000, they were to be returned to him today.

Home Building Slump Eases Pressure For New Schools

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The slowdown in home-building is resulting in a drop for requests for state loans for new school construction.

"The cycle in movement of families into new homes in suburban areas is being interrupted," Paul I. Hoyenga, executive officer of the state allocation board, said. "New people come into the state and, as always, take up residence in apartments in the cities until they find a home to buy.

"But now, they're not finding the homes to buy — either because the subdividers are not building them or because they cannot qualify for loans," he said.

Hoyenga's board allocates loans to school districts which meet the "distressed" formula in that they are not able to take care of providing classrooms by levying a maximum tax rate and by being bonded to the legal limit. Loans are made at an average rate of about $11 million a month from bonds which are submitted to the voters each two years.

What happens to the families who come to California and remain in the city apartments or houses, who normally would have been moving to suburbs? Most of their children attend schools in the cities which do not qualify for the state loans and build their new classrooms without the state aid.

Despite the anticipated higher enrollment in the city school districts, few of them will qualify for state loans. These are the areas which have industrial and commercial areas to provide high tax bases.

Hoyenga said the drop in applications for state school building aid loans has been noticeable this summer, when the rate of applications normally is high. School districts traditionally have applied for loans in the summer months, just in advance of the publication of the new property assessment rolls.

Normally, when these new property assessment rolls are released in August, they show increased value for the taxable property in a county or school district. In some cases, the increase is sufficient to make the district ineligible for a state loan—hence the land-office business in applications during the summer months.

The latest bond issue to be approved by the people — a $295 million issue on the June 7 primary election ballot — included $35 million for construction of permanent or temporary classrooms in poverty areas of the cities. These funds, however, probably will not help ease the enrollment increases for the city districts.

The areas which would qualify for part of the $35 million are not made up of new families waiting to buy homes in the suburbs. They primarily are made up of low-income families who have little prospects to move.

Under state law, the maximum size for classes in the first, second and third grades this fall will be 32 pupils. Penalties for failing to comply with the law have been quadrupled and it is going to mean that many new classrooms will have to be built.

Hoyenga said that generally about 800 of the state's 1500 school districts (there are fewer now because of unifications) have qualified for all the state loans, with little or none of it going to big city districts. However, Hoyenga said some of the core area school districts are on the verge of needing to borrow state money and qualifying to do it.

Studies already are being made in Fresno, Stockton, San Bernardino and Sacramento, he said.

The temporary lag in applications for school building aid does not mean that the allocation board will build up unneeded surpluses in its bond funds. Once the tight money stranglehold on home-building is broken, the pattern should revert to normal and the suburbs will be needing more schools.

Tomales Bay School Board Boosts Budget, Tax Rate

The Tomales Bay School District board last night adopted a $137,000 budget for fiscal 1967 which is expected to call for a tax rate of $1.595 per $100 assessed valuation.

The final tax rate will not be determined until the exact assessed valuation of the district is known, said Mrs. Lois Parks, clerk of the board.

Last year's budget was $100,834 and the tax rate was $1.295.

The Tomales Bay School District board also:

1. Voted to ask the College of Marin to conduct an adult class on the new mathematics in that district.
2. Voted to ask the state school department to inspect the original building of two classrooms which was constructed before 1933. The other buildings were constructed later.
3. Approved an inter-district agreement with American Valley School District to take all 21 students of that school this fall. The Sonoma County District has voted to annex to the Tomales District, but this will not take effect until next July 1.

Stolen Car Found

Poodle Missing

Andre R. Lardy reported to Sausalito police yesterday his male toy black poodle, Phillip, was stolen from his home at 74 Spencer Avenue, between 8 and 10:30 p.m. Monday. The dog was locked in a fenced area at the Lardy residence, he told officers.

President of Marin County Shrine Club is Forrest T. C. Gist.

State Assembly Gives Box Score On Fate Of Bills

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly issued its box score today on bills that lived and died in the lengthy 1966 legislative session.

Of 206 bills introduced in the Assembly, 115 were signed by Gov. Brown, Assembly clerks reported.

The governor signed all Assembly bills that came to him and the rest died in the Assembly and Senate.

Of 14 Assembly Constitutional amendments introduced, five passed the lower house and were adopted by the Senate.

Assembly clerks said that 13 bills were held at the Assembly desk, 62 died in committee, four died on file and only one was defeated on the house floor. The Senate turned down 11 Assembly bills either in committee or on file.

Planners Want Lights Changed

The Tiburon planning commission Monday night asked Fred G. Zelinsky to redesign the lights on his Tiburon Boulevard Parking lot next to the Tiburon Lodge.

Chairman Stephen H. Nash said the commission wants Zelinsky to put in a new type lighting. It thinks the present lighting is too bright and reflects too much light up into the hills.

"There's too much glare onto the roadway now," Nash said. He suggested Zelinsky could also reduce the wattage.

The commission also set Sept. 6 for a public hearing on extending the interim agricultural zoning on tidelots. It asked the Heath Land Co. to redesign the roads and some lot lines on its subdivision map for the El Marinero Unit 1 development.

Housing Authority Weighs Stand On Cutback Of Units

Marin County Housing Authority Commissioners Monday night discussed their appeal to the county planning commission of zoning administrator Thomas E. Cordill's recommendation that there be 20 instead of 30 units in the proposed Homestead Valley housing for the elderly project.

No action was taken, reported Donald O. Stutsman, executive director. The appeal is to be heard Monday by the commission.

The board went into closed session to discuss extending its option, which expires Friday, on the right to purchase the nine-acre property at Montford Avenue and Linden Lane for the project. Further discussion on the subject is expected to be held at the next adjourned regular meeting of the commission Aug. 9, said Stutsman.

Stutsman said the meeting was in closed session on advice of the authority's attorney, Howard Morehouse.

Burglars Steal Pocket Watch

Loss of a pocket watch in a burglary of the home of Henry M. Ladwig, 16 Tower Drive, Alto, was reported today by sheriff's officers.

Entry was gained by tearing a kitchen door's screen, deputies said. Nothing else was believed taken.

Officers said the home of Robert G. McMahon, 230 Laurel Grove Avenue, Kentfield, also was broken into by someone who pried a back door. It was not immediately learned if anything was taken.

Mistake Made On Storer View About Marincello

County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer's feelings about the controversial Marincello plan were accidentally reversed by a typographical error in Monday's Independent-Journal.

Storer said he feels the Marincello master plan is entirely consistent with the most advanced thinking in planning. The story, however, appeared with the word "inconsistent," and changed the meaning.

The article also quoted Storer as saying he visited Washington, D.C., last year, while attending an Atlantic City convention. The Washington trip actually followed that to Atlantic City, he explained today.

Marin Man Hurt In Cycle Crash

John Dal Bon, 23, of Tiburon was seriously injured when his motorcycle ran head on into a car an Panoramic Highway near the Mountain Home Restaurant at 6 p.m. yesterday.

Dal Ron, of 1655 Mar West Street, was in fair condition today in Marin General Hospital with a broken right arm, head injuries and multiple cuts and bruises.

Officer W. E. Taylor of the California Highway Patrol reported that Dal Bon was riding north when his cycle skidded into the path of a car driven by Louise I. Perry, 46, of 810 Panoramic Highway, Mill Valley.

North Coast Town Seeks Art Talent

Wanted: A potter, some painters and a weaver or two.

Ferndale already has a working sculptor, Hobart Brown; some part-time palette-and-brush types, and two authors-in residence, Bob and Jan Young. They'd like company.

Dorothy Russ McBride, herself a talented amateur painter, owns several century-old false-fronts in Ferndale's colorful one-street business district. She and other Ferndalers are redecorating and fixing up the sector, hoping to attract serious artists.

"Conditions here are ideal for art," says busy Mrs. McBride. "The community welcomes artists, rents are cheap, and the atmosphere is creative."

Neat-as-a-pin Ferndale was colonized more than a century ago by Danish dairymen, fugitives from the Prussian invasion of Schleswig-Holstein. Its sparkling pastel-and-white buildings preserve a Hans Christian Anderson look.

Led by Cecil Jo Hindley, who doubles as manager of the Humboldt County Fair, the local chamber of commerce sponsors a Victorian art festival each May, and an antique show in the fall (Sept. 24-Oct. 2 this year). Then shop windows blaze with "op" and "rep" works while pots of flowers line the sidewalks. Instead of factory stacks, the town wants to import watercolorists, recognizing the role of art in today's economy.

The Youngs, who moved up from Southern California this summer and took over Ferndale's old phone building, are helping Mrs. McBride spearhead the search for artists. They envision Ferndale as another Mendocino, the old redwood lumber port further south which has won nationwide renown as an art colony.

Bearded Bob Young reports he already has uncovered a glassblower and a saddlemaker as prospective residents. The hunt is on!

Improvement Club

Paul C. Zucker, Marin County planning director and Ned Parsons, senior planner, will answer questions on the rezoning of Tamalpais Valley to conform to the community's general plan at a meeting tomorrow of the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club in the Community Church at 8 p.m.

College Board May Adopt Final Budget

Marin Junior College District Trustees will be asked to adopt a final budget of $4,212,840 for fiscal 1967 when they meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow in room G-3 of the College of Marin physical education building.

The budget represents a $713,-991 increase over last year's budget of $3,498,849. Business Mgr. Norman D. Bird estimates the district tax rate will drop by a half cent this year to 77 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The budget figures does not include the district's two special reserve funds for capital outlay. Funds drawn from district tuition will stand at $288,-425 this year. Those collected by a 35 cent override tax will stand at $3,075,243. Last year they were $248,718 and $2,818,-535.

The board will also be given a master plan indicating the type of academic programs to be offered on the Kentfield and Novato campuses at various stages of the northern campus' development.

Tax Employees Get Bond Award

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Employees of the State Franchise Tax Board, the agency that collects taxes, got an award today for dipping into their own pockets to buy U.S. savings bonds.

Mrs. Joan Berry of Lusk, Wyo.—officially Mrs. U.S. Savings Bond—presented a Minuteman flag to board officials because 58 per cent of its employes enrolled in the payroll savings bond program.

The flags are given to groups of more than 1,000 employees achieving more than 50 per cent participation in the program.

Pleads Guilty As Accomplice

Thomas Edward Wood, 35, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to an amended complaint charging him with being an accomplice in the Nov. 7 burglary of H and G Coin Shop in San Anselmo.

Judge Harold J. Haley placed Wood, of Jersey City, N. J., on 18 months probation and suspended a six-month county jail sentence on condition that he serve four months. He also said probation can terminate if and when Wood enters the military service.

Wood and his brother, Robert Harold Wood, originally were charged with the burglary in which $10,000 in rare coins were taken. Robert Wood pleaded guilty to burglary Nov. 31 and was sentenced to from one to 15 years in state prison.

Jury trial for Thomas Wood started Monday but ended with his plea to the amended complaint.

MARCH OF DIMES

Nation Loses Much When Infants Die

(Second of three articles)

Federal "crash" programs against "killer diseases" may be by-passing the far greater problem of infant mortality, according to the medical statistician for the National Foundation-March of Dimes. At a meeting of the American Public Health Association in Chicago, Gabriel Stickle of the National Foundation said that with more than 200,000 infant mortalities each year, there is a "life-years loss" of a "staggering 14 million." The speaker said that in the number of life-years lost and in loss of economic productivity, infant deaths equal or outrank the three "major killers," heart, cancer and stroke diseases.

The death of a male infant represents an average loss to society of 67 years of life and over 50 years of economic productivity. In terms of dollars, this is a loss of $17.2 billion in future income.

Competent prenatal care can minimize the risks, save lives and reduce disability. The Marin Chapter of the National Foundation has been active in distribution of informational kits of prenatal care. These are available through physicians and public agencies.

While prenatal care is known to be important and necessary, doctors say that its influence upon the incidence of birth defects is one of the most elusive mysteries in medicine. It is known that the two are associated in some way but probably not on a simple cause-and-effect basis. Evidence gathered to date shows that:

Faulty prenatal development is the principal cause of stillbirths, of babies handicapped by birth defects, and of infant deaths.

Defects that kill or cripple are especially common among premature babies.

Some mothers run a greater risk than others of having stillbirths or premature babies. These women can often be identified before conception or early in pregnancy and appropriate steps taken to protect them and their infants.

Medical supervision, especially in the early months of pregnancy, does reduce the incidence of prematurity.

Fortunately, today the chances are about 15 to 1 that every time a baby is born in this country, happiness reigns. The parents can say, thankfully, "our baby is normal." For every 15 normal infants, however, one will be born defective. The probability of a normal birth can be increased when the expectant mother receives continuous prenatal care.

The present state of prenatal care in this country is a cause of concern among physicians, public health agencies, federal, state and local authorities, hospital staffs and educators. This problem grows with our ever-increasing population. Contributing to this difficulty are the many individual human differences — each person's motivation, habits and cultural background.

Thus the problem of providing pernatal care is twofold.

The first aspect of the problem is the inadequacy of available prenatal care for those in need. There are not enough public clinics for prenatal care, particularly in the urban centers, and where they do exist they are usually overcrowded and understaffed.

The second phase of the problem involves attitudes of women for whom these clinics are provided. It is in the lower-income groups that we find most of the indifference (and sometimes hostility) to prenatal care.

The reasons range from those of the woman who scoffs, "Why should I go to a clinic? I'm pregnant, not sick;" to the woman who complains, "The clinic is too far away and I can't afford a baby sitter;" to the woman who cries, "I have to wait too long — and I see a different doctor every time."

All too often these complaints are justifiable. The woman who says she is pregnant but not sick is usually correct. But she does need medical supervision during her pregnancy to catch unexpected complications that might make her sick or harm her baby. Good prenatal care is primarily designed for prevention.

To overcome these difficulties and many others, The National Foundation-March of Dimes has launched a national program in which volunteers will seek to arouse public concern about defective prenatal development and then stimulate community action toward more and better prenatal care.

This project is only one part of the basic program of the March of Dimes organization which, in 1958, shortly after its conquest of polio, began supporting research for the prevention of birth defects and financed facilities for treatment of those infants born with these afflictions.

Plans For Marine World Announced

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Plans for a $5 million Marine World featuring an oceanarium for performances by whales, dolphins and porpoises, was announced today by American Broadcasting Companies, Inc.

The San Francisco Bay project, which also will have a water show arena for water skiing and similar attractions, will be one of America's most unusual recreational, entertainment and educational areas, said Leonard H. Goldenson, ABC president.

The Marine World will be constructed on 85 acres owned by Leslie Properties, Inc., a subsidiary of the Leslie Salt Co., and is planned for completion by the summer of 1968.

Face Cuts Suffered By Marinwood Man

Vaile A. Bryant, 67, of Marinwood suffered face cuts when his car hit a parked car and ran over an embankment on Highway 101 on the Alto Hill at 6:20 p.m. Monday.

The California Highway Patrol reported that Bryant was driving north when his car swerved and hit a car parked on the shoulder driven by Anthony F. Sawicki, 38, of Pico Rivera, Los Angeles County. Bryant, of 303 Johnstone Drive, was treated in Marin General Hospital.

Burglar Receives Ninety-Day Term

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday gave Richard Thomas, 24, a 90-day county jail term and placed him on two years probation following his earlier guilty plea to burglary.

Thomas, of 39-B Lamita Street, Mill Valley, burgled Quality Auto Repair, 491 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, last April 4.

2. The reasons why the City of Novato desires said annexation are as follows.

(a) Said territory because of its location and other features should be governed in its development by the same zoning and planning regulations which govern territory within the City of Novato.

That Tuesday, August 23, 1966, at the hour of 8:00 o'clock P.M., in the Council Chambers, Novato Community House, in the City of Novato, County of Marin, California, is hereby fixed as the time and place when and where any person owning real property within the uninhabited territory above described and proposed to be annexed to the City of Novato, and having any objections to the proposed annexation, may appear before the Council of the City of Novato and show cause why such uninhabited territory should not be so annexed to the City of Novato. The protest must be in writing, may be filed at any time before the hour set for hearing objections to the proposed annexation, and shall state the name or names of the owner or owners of property affected and the description and area of such property, in general terms.

Man Arraigned On Three Counts

Richard Donald Blanchfield, 27, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on three misdeameanor counts arising from an alleged disturbance of the peace in San Rafael Monday.

He pleaded innocent and jury trial was scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Aug. 22.

Blanchfield, of 149 Novato Street, San Rafael, allegedly disturbed the peace of Ralph Byron Dwight and Dorothy Dwight in San Rafael, obstructed two San Rafael police officers in their duties, then committed battery on one of the officers, M. J. Conlin.

The pair allegedly sold a small quantity of the weed to Ronald C. Ingram of Sausalito on June 27. Fitch is also charged with possession that day of an illegal-size .22-caliber rifle.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Stunt Man Moves Into Stellar Role

NEW YORK (UPI) —Shots rang out in the deserted street in the darkness before dawn, and a body thudded into the gutter. Just then a blonde waddled over looking for a place to rest, and sat down on the corpse's head.

This not only annoyed the actor feigning death, it ruined one of the scenes in the new ABC-TV detective adventure series "Hawk" which is being filmed largely on location in the streets of New York City between midnight and morning.

STUNT MAN

Burt Reynolds, the stunt man turned star who plays Lt. John Hawk, a full-blooded Indian, laughed away the incident as one of the things bound to happen when a television company takes its cast and crew out of the safety of a studio and into a metropolis which really never sleeps.

No matter what the hour a crowd seems to gather, such as at Sheridan Square at 4 a.m. the other morning. A man in the throng took off his sweater because of the mugginess, and when he picked his sweater up again a few minutes later he had a valuable part of the camera hidden in it. One of the six tactical policemen assigned to crowd control for the show nabbed him.

Another bystander nearly got away with the makeup kits. And a gallant eyewitness who insisted on kissing the hand of actress Diane Baker turned out to be under psychiatric care.

'SCREEN TEST'

"But you've got to expect it," Reynolds said. "We were filming in an automobile in Greenwich Village when suddenly a guy stuck his head into the car and said: 'Hi. Wotcha doing?' I said 'We're shooting your screen test, baby.' We're having problems enough when the show. Which premiers next month) is unknown. Imagine what it will be like if we become popular and people go out looking for the Hawk?"

Reynolds is excited at what he has seen thus far of the hour long color series. He pared off 23 pounds to get the role of a contemporary Indian assigned by the district attorney to work among the night people of the city.

"Indians have been good to me," he said, recalling that he played the Indian "Quint" in the "Gunsmoke" series for more than two years.

"I'm hapier than I've been in my life. I'm not prepared for a flop, but I'm not prepared for a hit. It's true I insist on doing my own stunts. I think I do them better. The producers don't like it. They go weak and sick and hide out of sight when I do things like sliding 70 feet down a rope and flipping into the water from a boat, as I did the other night."

School Budget Hearing Today

Dixie School district trustees have scheduled a budget hearing for 8 p.m. today in the district office.

Supt. Dennie B. Willis will recommend no changes in the published budget of $2,359,410.

Board members will also consider how to use an additional $75,000 which is being made available from the state.

A site utilization plan for the Oak View School in San Rafael Park will also be presented and authorization sought for the detailed planning.

Prowler Grilled On Bay Slaying

OAKLAND (AP) — Police booked a prowler for investigatoin yesterday in connection with the fatal beating of Mrs. Edith Christie, 67, a widow.

Mrs. Christie was attacked in her $400 a month Lake Merritt District apartment but called a taxi herself early yesterday. It took her to Peralta Hospital, where she lapsed into a coma and died.

Police arrested Merle Mark Mosher, 29, of Oakland after three women called about a prowler in the Lake Merritt area. Police said Mosher fit Mrs. Christie's description of her assailant. They booked him for a homicide investigation.

In Good Condition After Pill Overdose

Mrs. Alice Marie Sapterio of Mill Valley was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital after she reportedly took an overdose of pills at her home at 41-D Lovell Avenue.

Police received a call at 3:03 p.m. yesterday that Mrs. Sapterio was in a semi-conscious condition and that several empty pill bottles were found near her bedside. She was taken to the hospital by ambulance.

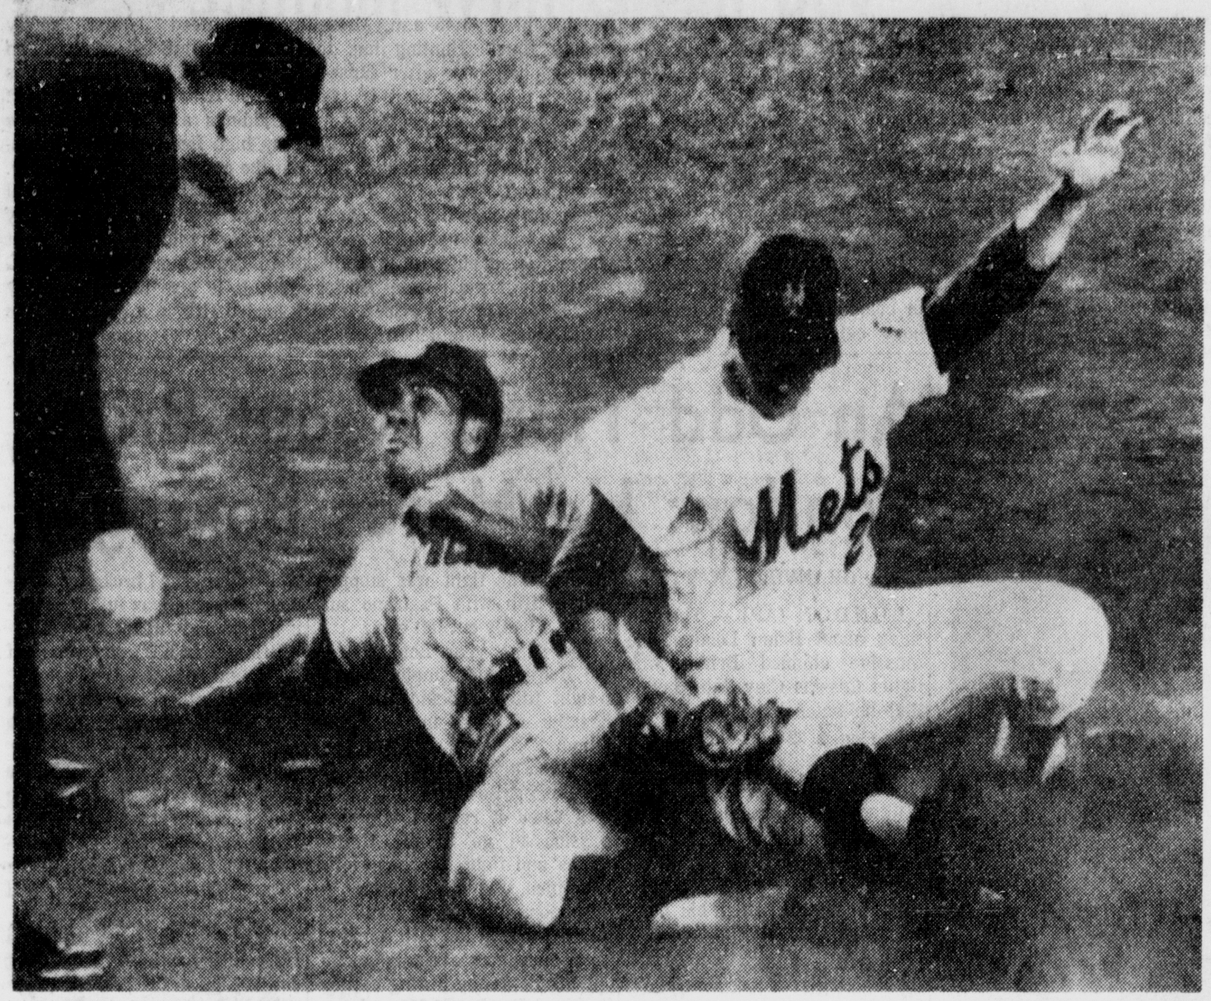
Giants Again Vault Into National League Lead



A LOOK BY OSSIE—Giant Ossie Virgil looks toward umpire Lee Weyer for a favorable decision, but all he got was an "Out" call. It was in the eighth inning of last night's game when Virgil tried to score from third on a short passed ball. Mets catcher Jerry Grote threw to pitcher Rob Gardner who made the tag before falling over Virgil. There's a happier picture of Ossie on page 34. (AP Wirephoto)

Perry Pitches Tonight

Marichal, San Francisco's ace right-hander, came out of the bullpen for the first time this season last night and earned his 17th victory when the Giants beat the weatherman and the Mets, 5-4. It was his 16th straight career victory against New York.

Gaylord Perry hurls against the Mets tonight.

The triumph moved the Giants back into first place in the National League's three-way tug of war with Pittsburgh topping Los Angeles, 6-5.

JUST 13 PITCHES

Marichal, who had not pitched for a week after cutting the finger when Pittsburgh's Manny Mota accidentally slammed a car door on his hand, came on in the eighth inning and retired four straight batters on just 13 pitches.

"Juan came to me during the game," said Giant Manager Herman Franks, "and said he could work a couple of innings if I needed him."

So Franks, who used six pitchers, starting with Ray Sadecki, and 19 players, sent his ace to the bullpen. When the Mets rallied for one run and had the tying run at third with two out in the eighth, Marichal got the call.

"I was a bit surprised to see him coming in from the bullpen," admitted New York Manager Wes Westrum.

Marichal threw one pitch to pinch hitter Chuck Hiller and got him on a fly ball to left. Then he retired Ron Hunt, Ed Bressould and Ken Boyer in order to wrap it up in the ninth.

"I knew I was the only right-hander we had left," Marichal explained, "so I told Herman I could pitch. I had thrown on the sidelines and except for the curve ball, I felt all right."

STILL TENDER

Marichal explained that the rotation of the curve ball cuts right across the split on his injured finger. "It's still tender. I threw mostly overhand fastballs because it hurts more on the curves."

Ossie Virgil, the Giants' veteran utility man, was the hitting star with three runs batted in—two of them on a bases-loaded single in the eighth that gave San Francisco the lead.

"I was just trying to hit the ball up the middle and stay out of the double play," he said. Virgil started the game behind the plate and finished up at third base.

The Mets had taken the early lead on homers by Boyer and Bob Taylor. Rain caused a 26-minute delay in the third inning and held up play again for 31-minutes in the seventh, with New York nursing a 3-1 lead.

4-MAN U.S. DAVIS CUP TEAM IS ANNOUNCED

NEW YORK (AP)—Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif.; Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio; Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., and Cliff Richey of Dallas, Tex., were named today to the U.S. tennis team which will meet Mexico in the American Zone Davis Cup final.

The matches will be played in Cleveland Aug. 13-15.

Brodie Returns, But Keeps Quiet

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Francisco 49ers quarterback John Brodie is in town, but he's not talking about his plans for 1966.

"I have nothing to say about anything concerning my future," the San Francisco signal caller said last night after he arrived here from a Hawaiian vacation.

"I will see my attorney (John Elliott Cook) as soon as possible to map out what we will do," he added. "Let's just say I'm happy to be home."

He said most comments about his plans have just been "speculation."

That same speculation has it that Brodie is seeking $50,000 per year and a three - season pact with the prospectors. But lingering in the background is the possibility of a suit against the Houston Oilers, with whom he reportedly reached a verbal agreement calling for $750,000 over a three-year span. The two pro leagues then merged and the agreement seemed to be forgotten.

Brodie has insisted all along he considers the agreement binding. If Brodie did not sign a 1966 pact but played out his option instead it would have cleared the way for him to sign with Houston in 1967.

Signing with the Oilers now, seems unlikely since none of the National Football League and American Football League clubs seem in the mood to be accused of upsetting plans for pro football's merger.

Meanwhile, the 49ers named defensive end Clark Miller their captain for 1966. The team opens its exhibition season Sunday against Dallas at Kezar Stadium.

Pirates Nip The Dodgers

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Where would the Pittsburgh Pirates be without the San Francisco Giants?

One place they would be is without Manny Moto, Matty Alou and Jose Pagan, all of whom came to Pittsburgh from the Giants and are vital cogs in the Bucs' stretch drive.

Mota, who might be the most valuable No. 4 outfielder in baseball, became the latest hero last night when he doubled home Bill Mazeroski in the eighth inning to provide the winning run in a 6-5 victory over Los Angeles.

That hit raised Manny's average to .350, tops in the league, though he hasn't batted enough to qualify among the leaders.

Coming off the bench mostly against left-handers, Mota has given Manager Harry Walker a problem other managers would enjoy. Pittsburgh's regular outfielders, Roberto Clemente, Willie Stargell and Alou, are all among the league's top five batters, too.

ENJOYS ROLE

"I don't mind, because I've been playing that way for four years," he said last night. "I know what I can do if I get my chance. I've been lucky this year to get hits at the right time. I don't think I'm doing anything better than I ever did, just getting a chance to play more."

Last night was a typical example of Moto's value to the Pirates. He came in as a pinch hitter for Alou in the sixth inning and bounced to the box. He stayed in the game and in the eighth, he got the winning double off Ron Perranoski.

Meanwhile, Don Drysdale, suffering through a nightmarish season, said he had his "best curve ball in five years" before being knocked out by Pittsburgh in the fourth inning.

Donn Clendenon finished Drysdale off with a two-run homer in the fourth on what both batter and pitcher agreed was a good pitch by Drysdale, down and away. But Clendenon lined it in to the right centerfield stands.

5 HOMERS

Clendenon's homer was only one of five as Pittsburgh ended a four-game losing streak. Lou Johnson, Jim Lefebvre and John Kennedy homered for the Dodgers off Buc starter Woody Fryman, and Gene Alley also homered for Pittsburgh.

Elsewhere in the NL, Cincinnati beat St. Louis 6-3, Philadelphia edged Houston 4-3 and Chicago topped Atlanta 6-5 in 12 innings.

Baltimore outscored Cleveland 8-6, Detroit shut out Chicago 5-0, Minnesota trimmed Boston 7-3, Kansas City nipped Washington 4-3 and California downed New York 6-5 in 11 innings in American League play.

BREAKS TIE

Darron Johnson's three-run homer in the seventh snapped a 5-5 deadlock and lifted the Reds to their 13th victory in the last 16 games. Vada Pinson also homered for Cincinnati. The Cardinals, who have dropped four straight, stranded 14 base runners.

The Phillies won their fifth in a row, overcoming a 3-2 deficit on Cookie Rojas' two-run single in the seventh. Bob Aspromonte homered for the Astros, who have lost 10 of their last 11.

Byron Browne's two-out single in the 12th delivered the winning run for the Cubs, who had tied the score in the sixth when Don Kessinger singled after Hank Aaron lost Browne's fly ball in the sun for a triple. Aaron drove in four Atlanta runs with his 31st homer, a single and a bases-loaded walk.

The Game Of Golf As It Should Be Played

"Iron man" football is as dead as the flying wedge. You not only have specialists in defense and offense, you have "special units," i.e., guys who do nothing but return kickoffs, block for returning kickoffs, or play on or against kickoff-return teams.

It is earnestly suggested that pinchhitters be permanently employed for pitchers. Pinch-runners are the order of the day. A manager gives his hurler the ball and says, "See if you can go five innings, will you? I'll have somebody warmed up if you can't."

I SWEAR, if Rembrandt were around today, he'd paint by numbers. They'd give Michelangelo a lathe. The "Mona Lisa" would be traced from a photograph.

The world of golf is as culpable as any other: Even the National Amateur is now medal (stroke) play. English translation: Your only opponent is yourself. The PGA jettisoned match play some years ago. The National Open has cancelled its 36-hole final in favor of two days of 18 holes each.

ANY YEAR now, we may expect it to go to 9 holes a day. With specialists in putting allowed to pinch-putt for the expert tee-to-green player, specialists in trap shots allowed to get out of bunkers for the mediocre sand players, and experts in rough shots allowed to play out of the trees for players who are only good on the fairways.

I am happy, therefore, to report that in Whittier this week, at the California Country Club, the great game of golf is putting on one of the last stands of the game as the Scotsmen envisioned it when they invented the damned thing.

THE NATIONAL JUNIOR championship provides for 36 holes of qualifying stroke play—and then a satisfying 36 holes a day of match play for three days.

You don't luck into this championship with a hot round or a hot back nine on the final day. You have to put together five days, 144 holes or more of grim, grueling golf. You've got to have the swing, temperament, stamina, concentration—and be under the age of 18.

IT'S HEARTENING to think these kids will find out how tough this game can be before they go out on the tour and play that drive-and-an-8-iron-and-one-putt game that passes for golf out there.

Some great players have found this championship too much for them. Jack Nicklaus won two National Amateurs and every other tournament worthy of the name, including the other major junior championship, the National Jaycee, but he failed five times in the National Junior. Arnold Palmer never bagged it. Ken Venturi lost in the finals (to Dean Lind) in the first one ever played (in 1948).

BUT SOME great players have won it: Gay Brewer in 1949; Mason Rudolph in '51, and Tommy Jacobs the following year. It usually takes about a dozen years before the youngsters in the hunt for the National Junior are in the hunt for the Masters, the U.S. Open, the British Open, and the other summits of golf. Allen Geiberger, who just won the PGA, was runner-up (to Bud Bradley) in 1954. Tommy Jacobs was in the Masters playoff only this spring, as was Gay Brewer.

A NATIONAL JUNIOR champion has not yet won a National Open. But that is as inevitable as tomorrow. For the present, it is comforting to know the youngsters are sufficiently anonymous to keep television off the course.

ONE-MAN SHOW

George Blanda Beats Raiders

HOUSTON (AP) — George Blanda, hoping to make it his seventh straight year as the Houston Oilers' starting quarterback, almost single-handedly crushed the Oakland Raiders 26-17 in pre-season play last night.

He passed for 144 yards and both Oilers touchdowns, kicked four field goals and booted both extra points.

Blanda, 39, with 16 pro football years to his credit, alternated with Jacky Lee in Coach Wally Lemm's plan to determine which of the three candidates for quarterback will start in the regular season.

Don Trull sat out yesterday's game but will be one of the two starters in the Oilers' next exhibition with New York at Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 13.

With the aid of a huge defense that included Ernie Ladd, Gary Cutsinger, Pat Holmes and Don Floyd, the Oilers kept the Raiders to a single field goal in the first half.

It was only when Oakland met Houston's second string in the last quarter that flanker Fred Biletnikoff managed to grab Cotton Davidson's pass for a 70-yard touchdown play.

The Raiders also alternated quarterbacks. Tom Flores worked the complete first half but connected only once in nine tries for five yards.

Davidson, sidelined all last season with a shoulder injury, completed 10 of 15 passes for 115 yards.

Davidson also made both Oakland fumbles and both were in the Oilers' favor. The Oilers got a touchdown after the first.

After recovering the second fumble, Houston also bobbled the ball but recovered. Lee, however, got trapped and Blanda stepped in with a 32-yard field goal.

In the dressing room after the game, Lemm said of Blanda: "Yes, I'd say George had a very good game."

Broncos May Sue Gilchrist For $20,000

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The Denver Broncos said yesterday they intend to sue rebellious fullback Cookie Gilchrist for about $20,000 in funds they say they advanced him.

The team management had a legal notice of intent to sue served on Gilchrist yesterday afternoon. Gilchrist's lawyer said he would not respond to the notice until he sees specific complaints.

Gilchrist said in a letter that the management of the American Football League team was not interested in producing a winning team.

Richard S. Kitchen, the Broncos' secretary and legal counsel, said Gilchrist received a $20,000 advance on his salary when he first came to Denver last year and has repaid $10,000.

Kitchen said also Gilchrist owes the team money for "Bills for which we have paid," including some airline fares. Jim Burris, the Bronco executive vice president, noted that the fullback had the use of some "general credit cards."

The Broncos also placed Gilchrist on the AFL reserve list, an act equivalent to suspension. They said they have "no plans whatsoever of reactivating him.

Cassius Clay Is Worried About Spies

LONDON (AP)—World heavyweight champion Cassius Clay has banned the public from his final workout today for his title fight Saturday with Britain's Brian London.

Reason for the secrecy: Spies, says Clay.

Clay looked disgusted at this apparent lack of ethics. But manager Angelo Dundee, always the realist, explained:

"We have had two spies to see London train. Two of his spies have come here.

The former British heavyweight champion said he believed the discomfort was caused by a "bit of a chill" on a muscle due to the wet weather.

London said he expects to tip the scales at his best fighting weight of 198 pounds on Saturday.

Clay now weighs 205¾, just over three pounds heavier than when he stopped British heavyweight champion Henry Cooper in the sixth round of their London title fight May 21.

Said London: "I have never felt better. And I'm not talking only about my physical condition. In the old days I never seemed to be in quite the right shape psychologically.

"I was sullen and impatient. Now I'm relaxed.

"I know I'm the underdog but so was Clay when he beat Sonny Liston, and the betting against England was something like 8-1 when they set out to win the World (Soccer) Cup."

A Day For Heroes When All-Stars Go Against Green Bay

CHICAGO (AP) — Somehow, somewhere a player will make a lasting name for himself Friday night when the College All-Stars meet the Green Bay Packers in Soldier Field.

That name could be among such backs as Donny Anderson of Texas Tech, Jim Grabowski of Illinois, Roy Shivers of Utah State or linebackers Doug Buffone of Louisvile, Tommy Nobis of Texas and Don Hansen of Illinois or end Aaron Brown of Minnesota.

Or somewhere along the line it might be a player who makes his way among the ranks of the unknown.

Back in 1937, the College All-Stars dealt the Green Bay Packkers a 6-0 defeat on a Sammy Baugh to Gaynell Tinsley touchdown pass.

The Collegians had to wait five years for another victory and then topped the Washington Redskins 27-7 when Otto Graham intercepted a Baugh pass and ran 97 yards for a touchdown.

In 1946, Elroy Hirsch rambled 68 yards for a touchdown and then grabbed a 38 yard pass from Graham for still another score as World War II players were still eligible for competition.

George Ratterman of Notre Dame became a sudden hero in 1947 as he fired a pair of touchdown passes for a 16-0 triumph over the Chicago Bears. Ratterman had been a second stringer for the Irish before proving himself in the All-Star Game.

Charlie Justice of North Carolina helped the Stars score a 17-7 triumph over Philadelphia in 1950 as he ran wild before the emphasis was placed in field goal kicking.

In 1955, Red Weed of Ohio State, a little guy who did nothing else, booted three field goals for a 30-27 win over Cleveland.

Coastal Deer Season Opens Saturday

Saturday is the day those deer you have been seeing go in hiding. And they'll hide until Sept. 25.

Hundreds of sportsmen will be trying to track down the bucks with hopes of a freezer full of venison. And according to the State Department of Fish and Game, deer hunting in Marin County will be slightly better than last year.

But for all you newcomers to the county, all deer hunting in Marin is done on privately owned land, and permission must be obtained from the land owners. Since the owners have leased their lands to private hunting clubs, you had better be a member of one of the clubs or go with someone who is. If not, you might as well stay home home or hunt in another county.

The kill in Marin County last year was 579, compared to the 1960-64 average of 704. The DFG says the kill this season should be somewhere between those two figures. "Good survival of the herd" is the reason cited for the increase by the fish and game people.

Elaborating on this, Marin County Game Warden Al Giddings says there were very few die-off reports from last winter because of cold, lack of food, heavy frost or heavy rains. "Most of the ranch owners are reporting seeing quite a few deer," Giddings said.

"But every year we lose more and more of the available hunting area," said Giddings, citing the loss of 23,000 acres to the Point Reyes National Seashore alone. City expansion is also eating up much of the open spaces, whether we like the "progress" or not.

The state early deer season in coastal areas starts one-half hour before sunrise Saturday, which will be 5:45 a.m. Marin County time. Hunting has to stop one-half hour after sunset, or 8:48 p.m. Bag limit is two bucks, forked-horn or better.

To hunt deer, persons must have a 1966 hunting license and deer tags. Cost is $4 for the license and $2 for the tags, available at most sporting goods stores throughout Marin. Hunters under 18 must have a prior year's license or evidence of satisfactory completion of a state-approved hunter safety training course before they can obtain a 1966 license. Persons must be 12 or older to hunt deer.

Giddings also warned of the very high fire hazards throughout the county this time of year. He also warned that it is illegal to shoot within 150 yards of any house or building, or to shoot from or across a public highway. It is also illegal to carry a loaded rifle in a car, Giddings noted.

San Francisco Giants Ossie Virgil (left) and Juan Marichal show their feelings in the dressing room after last night's game in New York. Marichal, out for eight days with an injured finger, relieved in the eighth inning and received credit for the 5-4 win. Virgil knocked in three of the Giants runs, two of them with an eighth inning single.

An Odd Thing About Brian London: He Hates Boxing

By GRANVILLE WATTS

LONDON (AP) — The odd thing about Brian London, the massive chinned Briton who fights Cassius Clay Saturday is that he hates boxing.

London, a 32-year-old veteran, freely admits that he's in the game strictly for the cash.

In 11 years as a professional boxer he has earned $350,000 and lives comfortably in a luxurious house near Blackpool. The Clay fight will fatten his bank balance by a minimum of $112,000.

He is confident he can beat Clay by adopting a Rocky Marciano style of infighting.

"I'm just going to get in there and have a thump," London told a newsman.

"I seem to have better fights against people who are not punchers and it does not appear that Clay can punch.

"Someone is going to beat him one day and it might as well be me.

"My best bet will be to close in and fight in Marciano style, crowding my man all the way."

London was born into a boxing family. His father, Jack, formerly was British heavyweight champion.

But at school, Brian preferred football and cross-country running to boxing. When his father finally coaxed him into the ring, Brian's first thought was to get it over quickly and get out.

London made his pro debut in 1955 but stopping a Briton called Dennis Lockton in the first round. In his next 10 fights, London chalked up nine wins inside the distance.

His string of victories ended, however, when he was stopped by European heavyweight champion Henry Cooper in the first round. In two later fights Cooper, stopped by Clay in the sixth round of their title fight here May 21, twice again beat London.

The same year London won the British and Empire heavyweight titles, knocking out Joe Erskine of Wales in the eighth round.

London clashed with the British Boxing Board of Control in 1959 when it refused him permission to go to the United States and fight the then world champion, Floyd Patterson.

Back home the boxing authority fined London $2,800 and suspended him for six months. The next year he was in trouble again.

London was boxing his way to victory over Welshman Dick Richardson at Porthcawl, Wales, when an eye was cut.

Forced to retire, London was so angry he stormed across the ring and a brawl broke out. Suddenly the ring was full of swinging fists and falling bodies.

Controversy seemed to follow London everywhere. When he fought former world champion Ingemar Johansson in Stockholm the fight was dull until the closing seconds of the 12th and last round.

Under present rules the count would have continued and London would have been champion. As it was, he lost the bout.

Sohner Wins Softball Twin Bill

Sohner Tree Service softballers continued their winning ways last night by sweeping a doubleheader from Hamilton Field, 3-2 and 4-3, on the losers' diamond.

The victories were the sixth and seventh in a row and moved Sohner's season record to 51 wins and 14 losses.

Gary Swarm, with last inning relief help from brother Morey, was the winning hurler. Bill Blakely hit a two-run homer for Hamilton.

Hamilton Captain Wins Air Force Tennis Crown

The Air Defense Command (ADC) tennis team, led by Capt. Henry "Hank" Jungle of Hamilton Air Force Base, made a near clean sweep of last Friday's finals to win the Air Force 1966 Tennis Tournament at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo., last weekend.

The defending open singles champion, Airman 1/c Fred Schunck, pushed Jungle to the limit with his powerful serve before superior net play finally defeated him in the marathon, 6-4, 3-6, 5-7, 6-3, 6-2. Jungle then teamed with Jeff Deeler to down Schunck and John Fulton in doubles competition.

Another ADC player, Maj. Billy Farmer, added to the Hamilton victory by copping the senior title with a triumph over Col. H. C. DeMoody, 6-4, 6-1.

The tourney will be a round-robin affair and will begin next week.

Cautious Optimism For United States Ski Team

PORTILLO, Chile (UPI) — Cautious otpimism are the key words with the United States team preparing for the 1966 Alpine world ski championships with U.S. women rated "very strong" in the slalom and the men hoping for the best from two injured stars.

A heavy storm which dumped nearly 10 inches of snow on the area threatened tomorrow's start of the championships but International Federation of Skiing President Marc Hodler said the meet will be carried out in its entirety even if there is a delay.

U.S. women's Coach Charles Ferries was more optimistic than overall team and men's coach Bob Beattie in a pre-championship rundown of the 14 stars in the meet. Ferries said that Penny McCoy of Bishop, Calif., and Wendy Allen and Cathy Allen of San Pedro, Calif., "will give us a very strong slalom team," while Beattie forecast "a good showing" without predicting any victories.

Beattie hoped that Billy Kidd of Stowe, Vt., and Jim Barrows of Steamboat Springs, Colo., will be sufficiently recovered from injuries to strengthen the men's chances.

Ex-Pacer For World Mile Champ Seeks Stardom With Green Bay

By GENE W. HINTZ

"I was his pacer," Long explains proudly. Then he adds, with a laugh, "for the first 50 yards."

The 6-foot-3, 200-pound Packer has been "pacing" the 19-year-old Kansas University freshman for the past three years around a Wichita golf course. It's his method of getting in shape for the season and he finds that running with Ryun has helped.

During the running, he wore three-pound weights on his ankles in an effort to improve his already great speed.

"I also played a lot of basketball," he said. "It helps me with my agility."

Long, who played only seven games of college football at Wichita, is starting his third season and he's hoping this is the year he finally makes it as a regular.

"That's all I've been thinking about the last six months," he said. "I only played those seven games of college football because I came to Wichita as a basketball player. So, I feel my body is still adjusting and I'm just picking up a little weight."

Long's plans for a big season received a slight setback last week when he twisted a knee in a practice session. But, it has healed almost completely and he's been working out this week full force with high hopes of seeing quite a big of action Friday night against the College All-Stars at Chicago.

"I've never had an injury like that before," Long said. He was obviously worried about it and its effect on his chances. "But it feels pretty good now. I ran all right today, didn't I?"

Long, a native of Vandergrift, Pa., specialized in basketball at Wichita and came out for football when he had used up his eligibility in the cage sport. Despite the limited action, he still set several school career receiving records and was thought enough of that Green Bay drafted him in the fourth round in 1964.

Last year, as a spot player behind Boyd Dowler, Max McGee and Carroll Dale, Long caught 13 passes for 304 yards and four touchdowns.

Continued Marin Election Slipups Call For Changes

The latest blast by veteran Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan serves to confirm our suspicions that Marin's election procedures have been highly irregular and have bordered on the illegal.

Jordan referred to the placement of state controller candidate Houston I. Flournoy's name on Marin's ballot.

"You are absolutely right," Jordan wrote to Flournoy. "This ballot was irregular, and had you lost the nomination I think you would have had good grounds for protesting the vote in Marin County . . .

"There is no question that you lost Marin County because of this irregularity."

Fortunately, Flournoy won the Republican nomination for state controller and the right to enter the November finals against Democrat Alan Cranston.

But it could easily have been otherwise. If Flournoy had lost the nomination by a few votes, Marin would have been on the spot.

Even before the Secretary of State's charge of irregularity, Flournoy's bad showing in Marin County had been the source of considerable eyebrow raising.

Marin County should have been one of Flournoy's strongest counties. An assemblyman from Claremont, Flournoy had the staunch backing of Assemblyman William T. Bagley and State Sen. John F. McCarthy. Flournoy had distinguished himself in the Legislature as an acknowledged expert on education financing.

The only logical explanation was the placement of names on the Marin ballot. Four names (including McDavid) appeared on one page, under the heading "State Controller, Vote for One." Flournoy's name appeared on the next page, all by itself.

Another example was the placement of the names of Marin Senator McCarthy and Assemblyman Bagley. At the top appeared the notation "Vote for One," followed by the names of McCarthy for Senate and Bagley for Assembly. Many voters called up, wondering whether they could vote for only one, whereas the two men were running for two separate offices. Either McCarthy or Bagley could have lost votes because of this ballot layout.

Here again, it was fortunate that a few votes lost made no difference, since both men ran uncontested on the Republican ballot and qualified for the November runoff.

There were numerous other foul-ups such as names left off the ballot, sample ballots being mailed late and to wrong persons, and polling place addresses omitted.

The slip-ups in Marin elections have been far too numerous and too serious to be passed off as the normal margin of error.

We pointed out after the June primary: "Elections are far too important to be jeopardized by sloppy administration or faulty preparation of ballots . . . If the present assistant county clerk for elections and his staff cannot cut down on the errors, the county supervisors should get a staff that can."

Some sort of shakeup in the elections department seems to be in order.

Quit-Viet Nam Advocates Want U. S. To Give Major Concessions

WASHINGTON — The Viet Nam war critics are constantly complaining that the U.S. just isn't doing enough to persuade Hanoi that we are willing to negotiate.

There are two valid answers to this kind of talk.

One is that there is no lack of communication between Hanoi and Washington. Hardly a single government in the world doubts that we are willing to go to the conference table and that North Viet Nam is not.

THIS COMPLAINT, that President Johnson and Secretary Rusk, Vice-President Humphrey and Ambassador Goldberg have not made our position on negotiating crystal clear, is idle and baseless talk. No one with any knowledge of the facts believes it.

But it is not purposeless talk. The complainers, who say we are not persuading Hanoi that we are willing to negotiate, rarely say exactly what they mean. Their real contention is not that the President hasn't said enough about a peace conference, but that he hasn't done enough to induce Hanoi to accept.

What the quit-Viet Nam critics are promoting, though they rarely admit it, is that giving enough one-sided advance concessions will convince Ho Chi Minh that he can get more of what he wants by talking than by fighting.

The answer to that complaint is that the United States is most certainly not going to throw away the independence of South Viet Nam.

WE HAVE BROKEN all the sound barriers to communication between Washington and Hanoi. The U.S. offered to engage in "unconditional discussions" long before the enlarged war effort. The President said that Hanoi need only name the place for a peace conference and a U.S. representative would be there in hours. It has refused.

Scores of interested and disinterested governments, including 17 unaligned nations, most of the members of the British Commonwealth, Yugoslavia, Roumania, India, Canada, and others have appealed to North Viet Nam to choose a negotiated settlement. It has refused.

Some argued that a pause in the bombing was needed to show our good faith. A five-day pause took place. No response from Hanoi. Some argued that a longer pause in the bombing would really bring the Communists to the conference table. We paused for five weeks. No response from Hanoi other than to use the time to repair past damage and increase infiltration.

UN SECRETARY-GENERAL U Thant suggested visits to both Peking and Hanoi to try to get negotiations started. Both capitals made it clear that they did not want any UN initiative.

But these rebuffs to peace overtures do not come because Hanoi fails to get the message. For 16 months we have been sending the message, but Hanoi has not wanted to listen. But on the threatened trials of U.S. pilots as war criminals, Hanoi got the message at once —because it wanted to listen.

Because Hanoi keeps rebuffing unconditional peace negotiations, the quit-Viet Nam advocates have to find some way to blame the U.S. in order to make headway. They want negotiations under any circumstances and propose that the U.S. grant special concessions to the aggressor—like a one-sided end of the bombing, removal of U.S. forces before freedom of South Viet Nam has been secured, and promises to create a government coalition with the Viet Cong.

We are not seeking the downfall of the Ho Chi Minh government. But the U.S. is not going to be a party to leading South Viet Nam into the quicksand of a fake peace.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Some Answers To Ballot Confusion

Editor, Independent-Journal:

With respect to your article concerning the Marin County Primary Election ballot which was headlined on your front page July 29, I would like to submit the following facts. In all fairness to the voters of the county, and to the county itself, I feel that you should print this letter exactly as written in a position equally as prominent and available to your readers as was the referenced article.

I also would like to correct one statement which was quoted in your article as having been made by me. I did not say that the candidate, referring to Mr. Flournoy, came and objected to us after the election. To my knowledge, neither Mr. Flournoy nor his managers have ever made any objection to this office concerning the ballot format. In this respect, this office did distribute sample ballots to the several political parties and candidates as required by law. If they had any objection to the ballot format, it was never communicated to us.

As to Mr. Flournoy's failure to carry Marin County, it should be noted that he failed by only 170 votes, and that he received 3180 votes more than his next highest competitor. Since Mr. Flournoy occupied the last ballot position for the office, and since the fall-off between the first and last ballot position may run as high as 10 per cent and remain within normal limits, I think a fair assumption would be that his campaign in this county was not quite as successful as that of his opponent, and not that the ballot format was the cause of his failure to carry the county.

The ballot which Mr. Jordan criticizes, and allegedly terms "irregular" was prepared in conformity with Section 15711 of the Elections Code, which is considered to be controlling under the terms of Section 15603. Both of these sections were specifically enacted to permit the use of punch card voting systems. The particular format in question was presented at a meeting on March 11, 1966, at which were present the County Clerk, County Administrator, County Counsel, Director of Data Processing, three representatives of the IBM Corporation, the Senior Administrative Analyst, the two senior systems men of the Data Processing Department and myself.

The question of ballot format and candidate assignment to voting positions was raised because the Votomatic provides for use of only 175 voting position unless costly additional equipment, not regularly required by Marin County, is used in conjunction with the installed computer system. The use of this equipment on a one time basis is to be avoided when possible, not only because of its cost, but also because the "field" type installation, as opposed to factory installation, is subject to greatly increased probability of malfunction, with associated operational problems. At this time the probable length of the primary ballot was such that a choice had to be made between various ballot formats to meet the 175 voting position limitation, or the one time use of the additional data processing equipment. Subsequently, at a meeting of the same persons on March 13, 1966, it was decided to use the questioned ballot format in order to insure meeting the voting position limitation. It was the considered opinion of those present at this meeting that the ballot format was not "irregular" under the two sections of the Elections Code mentioned earlier, and that these two sections were controlling. At this time, the exact length of the ballot was not known, and it eventually became known only after all ballot layouts for elective office had been fixed. To have delayed this decision would have incurred grave risk of delaying the entire election in view of the then existing legislative indecision concerning State ballot measures.

As to the other complaints concerning the Primary Election which you repeatedly mention, I believe that you will discover upon inquiry that the same type of mix-ups in almost the same proportion, occurred in the other counties using a punch card system in this election, including those with prior experience with the system.

My thanks to you in advance for your consideration.

Fraternize To Economize

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Seems like everybody is complaining about commute traffic conditions but no one seems to be able to come up with a solution except the ones involving several million dollars. But there is one solution—while not completely effective, could be a very dramatic easing of the problem. In one word, the solution is COMBINE!

The roads are cluttered with one-passenger vehicles, approximately, according to a very rough and unofficial count, at the ratio of four to one. If all the "singles" suddenly became "doubles," it would result in an impressive reduction of 40 per cent. The I-J could be very instrumental in helping to accomplish this by spot "commercials" such as, for example, "JOIN UP FOR A SPEED-UP," "FRATERNIZE TO ECONOMIZE," "COMBINE FOR A DECLINE" (in frustration, delay and congestion). The possibilities are unlimited but it takes a start. How about the I-J making that start?

Besides, it is more fun to have someone to grumble to when it gets rough rather than sitting there muttering to yourself.

Traffic Snarls With Ice Cream

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Please ask your readers to imagine that the directors of the Golden Gate Bridge gave permission to an ice cream corporation to sell ice cream cones in 101 delicious flavors at the entrance to the toll plaza. Then have a look at the San Anselmo Hub, in peak traffic time, where an ice cream corporation with only 31 delicious flavors has been given permission to do business, by who knows whom, to create 31 delicious traffic snarls seven days and nights every week, on the hour every hour.

What has the San Anselmo Ice Cream Council to say for itself?

Investigations Hit Racial Riot Causes

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

Two congressional committees are turning investigational spotlights on individuals and organizations behind the recent rioting in the nation's big cities.

The House Judiciary Committee, whose members include some of the staunchest civil rights advocates in Congress, will open an inquiry into the Cleveland riots immediately after the House concludes consideration of the civil rights bill.

THIS UNANNOUNCED probe, which has the support of both House leaders and the White House, is being launched to determine if the racial outbreak was organized and whether the violence was linked to a pro-Castro organization trying to influence Negro civil rights groups to use force.

A second inquiry, covering the racial disturbances in Brooklyn, Chicago, Cleveland and other cities, is being undertaken by the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Its staff is already gathering information on the activities of militant civil rights advocates of "black power" and their possible ties with Communist-sponsored peace and espionage groups.

The contemplated probes into this highly controversial field, which only a few weeks ago was deemed taboo because of powerful political factors, was given the green light by Speaker John McCormack after President Johnson voiced disapproval of racial disturbances in his Indianapolis speech.

"THE PRESIDENT'S denunciation of the violence in Brooklyn, Cleveland and Chicago broke the congressional ice," explained a House Judiciary Committee member. "We never would have gotten clearance for an investigation if the President hadn't spoken out and used such strong language."

Representative Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., Judiciary Chairman, who ordered the probe, acted on a bipartisan request from the ranking Ohioans on the committee — Representatives William McCulloch, R. and Michael Feighan, D, both strong civil rights advocates.

FATHER ALBERT KOKLOWSKY, whose parish is in the midst of the riot-torn Hough area of Cleveland, told the legislators that the day before the explosion, numerous out-of-state cars—mostly with Illinois license plates—were parked on side streets of the strife-stricken section.

The use of Molotov cocktails and sniping from rooftops were perpetrated by persons that neither Father Koklowsky nor his parishioners knew or recognized. As one of the most active and best known anti-poverty workers, Father Koklowsky is acquainted with nearly all the Negroes in the Hough area.

Cleveland's police chief Richard Wagner notified the legislators that he is prepared to provide first-hand evidence that the firebomb attacks, which destroyed or damaged more than 100 buildings, were planned and executed by "graduates" of a training school known as the JFK (Jomo Freedom Kenyatta) House.

REPORTS THAT the JFK House got financial support from an organization receiving funds from the Office of Economic Opportunity, which administers the multi-billion dollar anti-poverty program, are being checked by the Cleveland police, and their findings will be turned over to the Judiciary Committee.

Enviromental Science Services Lease Land For Quake Studies

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The Environmental Science Services Administration, a part of the U. S. Department of Commerce, has leased a five-acre tract of land some 25 miles south of Hollister, along the well-known San Andreas fault, to conduct an exhaustive investigation of quakes.

The area for the experimental laboratory is known as one of the nation's busiest earthquake zones, a place where literally hundreds of minor quakes occur each year.

THE STUDIES will be carried out by the Earthquake Mechanisms Laboratory of ESSA's institute for earth sciences.

Plans are under way, officials said, for an elaborately instrumented program in which the scientists will probe the secret beneath the earth's surface with a variety of modern techniques.

Immediate objective of the project is to acquire more knowledge of the generating mechanism and energy release of earthquakes.

In the process, the scientists will monitor and analyze such occurrences as excessive strain buildup, tilting of the earth's surface, changes in gravity and geomagnetic properties, accoustical phenomena, swarms of microtremors, and other manifestations of uncase beneath the earth.

KNOWLEDGE gained from the project is expected to bring the day closer when earthquakes can be predicted, a day which has been the dream of scientists for a long time, and the hope of citizens who sit on a potential powder-keg waiting for the inevitable.

The state of California has done a great deal of work on earthquake investigations. The department of water resources has published a three-part map of the state, outlining locations of visible faults, as well as concealed faults, and the epicenters of known and potential quakes.

THE DEPARTMENT of commerce investigations are expected to add materially to the information already developed by the state. It will bring in all types of modern equipment, which includes devices for continuous measurement of movement, or "creep," along the San Andreas fault. Eventually these geodimeters will be replaced by lasers when they are fully developed for this purpose.

The project will establish a precise network of geodetic control to monitor any changes in distance, direction, or relationship between mounmented stations.

The area also will be covered periodically by precision aerial photograph — color, infrared and panchromatic.

Property Owner's Tax Plight Is One Of Too Many, Not Too Much

The plight of the modern property owner may not be that he pays too much tax, but that he pays too many taxes. That is, too many different agencies have the power to tax him.

If you are the owner of a $30,000 home in Tiburon, you'll pay an esimated $737.05 in fiscal 1967 property taxes. This is $43.95 more than you paid last fiscal year.

IF YOU'RE the owner of a home anywhere, it's not news to you that your property taxes are going up.

But what may be surprising is, that as a Tiburon homeowner, you'll shell out money for two special taxes and pay taxes to 13 separate government entities. These figures are supplied by the Tiburon city staff and may provide some comparison.

As a Tiburon taxpayer, your total tax rate will be $10.682, up from $10.045 last year. About two-thirds of this—$7.08—is for education.

You'll pay $229.77 to the Reed School District, $152.15 to the Tamalpais Union High School District, $53.48 to the Marin Junior College District, $5.18 to the school equalization and tuition tax and $1.04 to the mentally retarded program.

THE COUNTY government will take $155.25 in fiscal 1967, the city $37.26, the Tiburon Fire District $46.92, the Tiburon Sanitary District, $37.95 and the county library $11.04. Collecting under four dollars each will be the Marin Transit District, the Tiburon Lighting District, the Mosquito Abatement District and the Marin Hospital District.

If you're a concerned Tiburon homeowner, for example, that wants, of course, good government with low taxes, you face some problems should you want to protest a tax rate increase.

In the first place, how can you keep track of 13 entities which introduce their budgets about the same time? Even if you could, would you have the time to appear at the various public hearings to lodge your opinion (assuming it would do any good)?

Practically speaking, which tax rates would you protest? Most of them remained the same. Only the fire district, the sanitary district, the county and the city taxes rose appreciably. The remote county tax inched up only seven cents and hardly seems worth fighting.

OF THE OTHER THREE, the sanitary district and the fire district are small in relation to the overall bill. The Tiburon city tax almost tripled from about 20 cents to 54. But again it amounts to only a $37.26 tax.

An array of taxing agencies works against the taxpayer. The effect is to "nickel and dime" him to pieces while depriving him of control by dividing the taxing responsibility beyond his effective reach.

The Tiburon taxpayer would do well, it seems, to encourage annexation and unification to bring their taxes under fewer governments. He could then clearly fix the responsibility of a tax boost and measure easier the performance therefrom. Fewer governments tend to be more efficient, too.

Incidentally, the city of Tiburon has made it easy for the concerned citizen to scrutinize the proposed fiscal 1967 budget. Copies of the well prepared but succinct document are available at city hall—one resident said he wasn't an accountant and he could understand it.

Article On Luci's Dress Dries Last Bit Of Wedding Suspense

WASHINGTON — My wife and I were absolutely furious at Women's Wear Daily for revealing the description of Luci Baines Johnson's wedding dress. For weeks we had eaten up every word that was written about this exciting marriage, and we knew more about Luci and Pat Nugent than we did about our own children.

We knew, for instance, that Pat's favorite dish was fried chicken which Luci loves to cook with French bread slices fried in butter. We knew that Luci would do her own housework without the help of a maid. We knew Pat was going to work for a master's degree and that Luci said she hoped he would be the boss in the family.

WE STUDIED pictures of Luci's dream house which they had rented for $165 a month in Austin, and we had not only read up on how they would furnish their bedroom, but also where the Secret Servicemen were going to sleep.

The women reporters attached to the White House had spared us no details about the young couple, and as the day of the wedding approached my wife and I were so excited we could hardly sleep.

"I wonder what she'll wear on her wedding day?" I said.

"I'd rather not know," my wife replied. "Her dress will be the only surprise left and it's going to be so much fun to see it on the day of the wedding on television."

"I AGREE," I said. "If you knew what her wedding dress looked like, it would hardly be worth staying home."

"I wonder if it will be lace," my wife said.

"Now you're just teasing yourself," I warned her.

"Well, it's fun to speculate. Did you know there were going to be live lilies of the valley on the wedding cake?"

"I didn't, but I could have guessed it," I said. "What are you doing there?"

"I've made up a list of all the bridesmaids and the ushers, so we'll know who is who."

"That's a good idea. It will be like watching a football game with a program. What's that?"

"What are you doing now?"

"I'm cutting out something old, something new, something borrowed, and something blue. The something old is President Johnson's latest statement on Viet Nam, the something new is Marshal Ky's decision to invade North Viet Nam, the something borrowed is the country's latest deficit, and the something blue is Sen. Dodd's opinion of Drew Pearson."

"You're in fine shape," I said.

But our happiness was short-lived.

WEDNESDAY I walked into the house and found my wife in tears.

"What happened?"

"Women's Wear Daily has revealed all the details of Luci's wedding gown. We have nothing to look forward to."

"Oh, the dastardly press!" I cried. "Is nothing sacred? What are we going to do now?"

"I don't know about you," she said as she started putting on her long rubber boots, "but I'm going fishing."

Novato School Tax Rate Goes Down

A $6,623,757 budget for fiscal 1967 which calls for a $5.18 tax tion, was adopted Monday night by the Novato Unified School District Trustees at their regular meeting in the administration building.

This tax rate is down nine and one-half cents from the $5.275 tax rate for last year, said Supt. James G. Bunker. He said that until the total assessed valuation was known, the exact tax rate could not be determined.

Vote was unanimous with William Schneeflock absent.

The Novato Unified School District board also:

1. Approved an application for $64,218 for the coming school year in aid to educationally deprived children, a program started last year.

2. Renewed Transit Casualty Co.'s contract for student insurance for the second year.

3. Heard a report from Asst. Supt. Duane Moeller that the school cafeterias lost $16,615 in operating expenses last year. The district has budgeted $23,000 for them next school year.

4. Approved a recommendation that curriculum teachers work two additional weeks and receive an increase of five per cent in salary. These will come one week before school starts in the fall and one week after it has closed in the spring.

Jehovah's Witnesses Convention Starts

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Nearly 55,000 Jehovah's Witnesses opened a five-day convention at Candlestick Park today with delegates in attendance from 40 states and Canada, Mexico, Argentina, Great Britain and The Netherlands.

The gathering, believed to be the largest religious convention in San Francisco history, has a 25-hour program of Bible lectures, dramitizations and symposiums.

Bad Soil Slows Building Progress

Progress has slowed on the new $246,000 building at West Marin School because of a patch of bad soil, the West Marin Union School District board learned Monday night.

Howard F. Brose said soil is being raplaced this week. The new building will add three classrooms, a library, an administrative wing, and a maintenance shop to the school facilities.

The board also hired Donna McCunniff of Lagunitas to teach third and fourth grades at West Marin School.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Those Points In Dummy's Hand Can Make Or Break Your Game

Always count the points in dummy before you begin to play the hand.

When you fail to make the contract you can complain if your partner didn't have enough points for his bids.

Opening lead — ◇ Q

SOUTH'S PLAINT

"You had only 15 points for your opening notrump," South complained.

"I'd have made the slam if you held the queen of clubs instead of the jack."

It was true, but North's opening bid was perfectly sound.

RUFF DIAMOND

The first two tricks were correct, but South should not win the second diamond in dummy.

Instead he should play low from dummy and ruff in his hand.

If nothing startling happens in hearts South is in position to discard a heart on the ace of diamonds and then lead the jack of clubs for a finesse.

South discards one club on the extra heart and the other low club on dummy's ace of diamonds.

It South plays the hand properly he can then congratulate his partner on bidding one notrump with only 15 points.

DAILY QUESTION

You have opened with one notrump and partner has raised to two.

It is up to you again, holding:

♠ Q J 10
♥ K J 9 6
♦ A K 7
♣ J 10 9

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

You have minimum values for your opening bid and should therefore refuse the invitation to game.

If partner has 10 points or more he should bid three notrump by himself instead of inviting you to bid it.

Market Makes Gain In Moderate Trading

Inland and Bethlehem Steel were up about a point, Jones & Laughlin 2, U.S. Steel and Republic fractions.

Xerox climbed nearly 7, Polaroid and IBM about 5 each.

The market rose from the start as Wall Street saw renewed inflationary implications in the steel price boost as well as in the large June gain in instalment buying. Stocks rallied from two-year lows on average.

Up about a point were Radio Corp., Raytheon, General Electric, Philps Dodge, International Telephone, Air Reduction, Control Data, United, Pan American and American Airlines. Eastern Air Lines rose about 3.

Buying was triggered by the Inland Steel price boost, brokers said, and its inflationary implications.

Higher-priced glamor stocks like IBM and Polaroid rose 5 or 6 points. Xerox was up about 3 in late dealings, trimming its best price of the day.

Stock Buyers Don't Believe In Bargains

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices have dropped so low that brokers insist there are bargains to be had. But the public has lacked interest.

Investors seem to be concentrating more on the clouds on the economic horizon than on the sunny sky overhead where statistical records still appear with much of their old regularity.

The public has been looking for bargains elsewhere—in the bond market, and in the interest rate war between financial institutions.

PROFITS IGNORED

It has ignored the boost to stocks that would seem to lie in the continuing rise in industrial production through June and in the 11 per cent gain in profits in recent months, compared with a year ago.

Brokers explain the steep drops recently in stock prices as less the result of any rush to sell than of simple lack of any urge to buy—bargains or not.

LABOR FORCE

But also playing a big role just now is the fear that a major labor-management fracas lies ahead. Union wage demands are growing—and the public has been made aware of them by strikes that disrupted transportation, or medical service, or production lines of industries short of supplies.

Some expect labor demands to get so high next year that management will refuse to accept them. Or, if the demands are accepted, rising production costs could pinch off the profits that industry says it must have.

WAR, TAXES

Some potential buyers of stocks may also have been frightened away by all the talk that rising living costs and growing fiscal demands of the war in Viet Nam will lead to higher taxes after the fall elections. Higher taxes on corporate income will affect profits. And higher taxes on individuals will slow purchases of industry's products.

What slowdown there has been in the economy so far has been largely concentrated in two fields that the public is always well aware of—autos and housing.

But the general economy is still on the uptrend, even if some investors are suspicious about the future for some industries and some corporations.

In the stock market it's been a long, hot summer—and many will be happy when the day comes for the bears to hibernate.

Long Drug Store Chain Soon To Make Its Debut In Novato

The first of three Longs Drug Stores coming to Marin should be ready for its opening in another week or 10 days — the Novato store in the Downtown Shopping Center at Grant Avenue and Seventh Street.

It will have nearly 21,000 square feet of floor space devoted to a modern pharmacy, cosmetics department, photography department, beverages and other products besides the usual line of drug store merchandise. There are about 300 parking spaces in the center which in a few weeks will also feature an opening of the Arden-Mayfair Market.

Robert Vienop, formerly of Concord, has been appointed Longs' local manager. He will be moving to Novato with his wife and three sons. With the drug store chain since his graduation from University of California in 1959, he has helped open stores in San Pablo, Fremont and Concord.

Another Longs is scheduled to appear in the Red Hill Shopping Center, San Anselmo, before Christmas, and a spring opening in the Northgate Shopping Center's unit three (now under construction) is down for next spring.

NOVATO PHARMACY will have double its present space at 1324 Grant Avenue when work starting this week is completed at the Twinbrook Medical Center. Crawford and Banning designed the expansion which will also alter some of the medical suites — Shields Construction Co. is doing the work. Novato Pharmacy will take over the adjoining radiology laboratory which is to be moved to another part of the center. Completion is expected in about 10 or 12 weeks.

Trustees Cut School Taxes In Kentfield

Kentfield School District trustees Monday night trimmed $16,909 off their publication budget and adopted a final budget which Supt. Howard C. Harmon said will mean a five cent reduction in the district tax rate.

The board trimmed the reserve fund in order to adopt a final budget of $1,176,340. Harmon said the district tax rate will drop from $3.345 to $3.296 per $100 assessed valuation. The rate would have been $3.33 without the trim, he said.

The board noted that district assessed valuation rose by 25 per cent this year and asked why the tax rate could not drop accordingly.

Harmon placed the blame on the state, noting that 10 years ago, state support for the district was 50 per cent. Last year it was 24 per cent and this year it will be 19.7 per cent.

If state support for the district had remained constant, he said, this year's tax rate would have been lowered by $1.24.

The Kentfield School District board also:

1. Listened as Lorraine Barry of the Marin County Substitute Teachers Assn. argued that substitutes should make the same salary per day as a first year teacher. This would mean a raise for the substitutes from $22 a day to $32.50 a day, she said. The board took no action.

2. Awarded a $9,878 contract for alternations to the playground at Adaline E. Kent School to Page Construction Co. of Novato.

3. Awarded a transportation contract which will cost the district about $7,000 this year to Patchett's Bus and Transportation Co.

4. Transferred $1,000 from reserve to capital outlay funds to shield windows of six classrooms at Greenbrae School from the sun. Harmon estimated temperatures in the rooms would be decreased by 10 degrees. He said room temperatures got as high as 99 degrees during May.

5. Interviewed two applicants for the job of principal at Greenbrae School in closed session.

Car Tops Taken

Gross Transaction Sales Tax Discussed

Members of the Marin County Taxpayers Assn. Monday night again discussed their plan for a "gross transaction sales tax" which would replace the property tax in the state.

Philip J. Rowland, former deputy tax assessor for Marin County, and president of the association, claims the proposed gross transaction tax would cut taxes by 50 per cent and at the same time would yield the necessary $40 billion tax base for the state.
